Texas, Oklahoma Hit By Tornadoes; 6 Die

At Least 59 Persons Injured; Property Loss Reported to be Heavy

Dallas — (AP) — Tornadoes slashed through vast areas of Texas and Oklahoma last night and today and killed 6 persons and injured at least 59.

The twisters struck at Vaughan and Bynum in north central Texas; near Gainesville in north Texas; near Kings' on, Okla., near the Texas border; and at Silver City, 30 miles west of Tulsa, Okla.

A freak tornado dipped into Marshall, far east of the main turbulence area, unrooted one home and then lifted. It struck hours after the main twister line left Texas.

Another tornado cut a path 500 feet wide in Henderson, in far east Texas southwest of Marshall, while hurricane strength winds damaged homes and businesses in Gladewater, and near Longview, all in the Marshall-Henderson area. No one suffered injuries in Henderson, but damage was extensive.

Still another twister struck Galveston bay on the Texas coast, sinking a cabin cruiser and damaging mooring sheds.

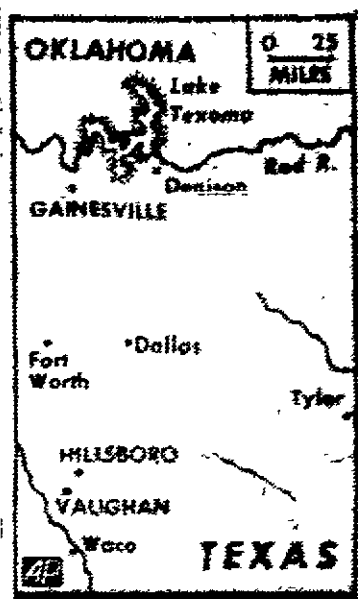

The line of tornado weather rolled hundreds of miles into Kansas and Missouri. Kansas City underwent a tornado alert for 15 minutes but no twister struck there.

Debris on Highway

A tanker plane from Bergstrom air base near Austin crashed during the turbulence and all four aboard died.

Three persons perished at Vaughan, a village of 50 persons. Two died at Bynum, east of Vaughan. An automobile was tossed off the highway north of Bynum, killing Mrs. C. B. Bruner of Waco, Texas.

The main WACO-Dallas highway the six miles to Bynum had the appearance of

Nelson Raps Rejection of Ald. Schmenz

Madison — (P) — Democratic Gov. Gaylord Nelson lashed today as "pure partisan politics" the senate's rejection of his appointment of Milwaukee Ald. Matt Schmenz as chairman of the Wisconsin Public Service commission.

"I believe that all citizens of Wisconsin should be seriously concerned by the fact that the publicly stated reasons for opposition to Mr. Schmenz were completely phony," the governor said.

Rejected 18-14

On an almost straight party line vote, the Republican - controlled senate Tuesday rejected the nomination 18-14.

"Every Republican who voiced an opinion of Schmenz agreed he is a man of intelligence, integrity and devotion to public duty. Not a single argument that would hold water was advanced against him . . .

"Unfortunately the Wisconsin consumer has been the loser in this battle. The sole beneficiary is a small handful of private utilities who sent their representatives to Madison to fight this confirmation." The governor did not identify the utilities.

Bill Boosts Pension for State Judges

Most Generous Plan Ever Proposed Would Cover Circuit, County

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — The most generous public employee pension proposal ever filed in the state legislature has been introduced for circuit and county judges.

It would remove the jurists from the state retirement fund and assure them fixed and higher pensions.

It would provide retirement pay of 75 per cent of full salary for a 70-year-old man who has served on the bench for 15 years and correspondingly liberal benefits for those in other tenure and age brackets.

$9,000 Pension

Some circuit judges now get $12,000 salaries from the state, some get $14,000. Many counties pay supplementary salaries. Under the guarantee proposed, a typical circuit judge could retire at 70, with 15 years of service, at a minimum state pension of $9,000.

The judges would retain their present eligibility for social security benefits.

The bill also would include the members of the state supreme court, who are also members of the regular state retirement fund.

The measure was introduced by Sen. Moser, a Milwaukee lawyer and a Democrat.

Russians Told Planes Over Berlin Won't Cut Altitude

Seek Runaways In Breakins

Two 15-Year-Old Boys Seen in Stolen Car

Clintonville — A 2-state alert has been broadcast by Clintonville police for two 15-year-old runaway boys blamed for car theft and wanted for questioning about three breakins this morning or Tuesday night.

Police Chief Len Manser said the boys were reported missing at 4 a. m. today. They were accounted for up to 7 p. m. Tuesday.

The breakins reported today include the Clintonville Co-op store on Cedar street, the junior high school and the "Gibson" house, an unoccupied but furnished home on Main street. A 1955 model Ford was taken from the Nelson Sales and Service lot and 10 gallons of gasoline from the city garage on Bennett street.

A report from Sparta placed two boys in the car there early this morning when a farmer helped pull the car from a ditch. He reported the number of the dealer plates on the car.

Broke Windows

Each of the breakins was accomplished by breaking windows. The Co-op store reported some loose change, two cartons of cigarettes and a 30-30 rifle missing. Two antique swords were missing from the "Gibson" house, which was ransacked. Nothing was missing from the junior high school, although the office was searched.

A lock on the city garage pump was broken and the gauge indicated 10 gallons of gasoline were taken.

Chief Manser said he wants to question the youngsters about the breakins because he believes they are the boys in the stolen car.

It is believed the boys are headed west for a visit with a relative of one of the boys.

Plan to Immunize Flood Victims to Avert Typhoid Fever

Rockford, Ill. — (AP) — Fear of a typhoid fever outbreak led to plans for the mass immunization today of between 900 and 1,000 persons forced from their homes by the still rising waters of the flooded Rock river.

Flood damage already in this northern Illinois city of 107,000 was estimated by Civil Defense Director Eugene O'Malley at $500,000.

The crest was expected to night.

The Rock river was flowing nearly five feet over the Fordham power dam, where most river stagings are recorded. The all-time high was five feet, three inches in March, 1929.

Air Force Replies to Warning About Probable Complications

Berlin — (AP) — The U. S. Air Force served notice on the Soviets today it will go on flying high altitude transports to West Berlin when necessary.

An air force spokesman made this statement shortly after a Soviet embassy warning that complications would arise if the United States persisted in flying planes to West Berlin at altitudes above 10,000 feet.

The spokesman of the U. S. Air Force headquarters in Europe said that "if at any time a military requirement is established for use of C130s in transporting cargo or military personnel in or out of West Berlin it will be used."

"The most efficient altitude for carrying cargo over relatively short runs is between 20,000 and 30,000 feet, depending on winds and cargo," he added.

A guarded statement from the Soviet embassy hinted that explosive incidents might erupt in the three air corridors used by western planes into the isolated city unless there is a settlement of the dispute which became public yesterday.

Exchange Protests

The U. S. State department has declared that the United States will continue to fly planes into Berlin at whatever altitude it deems necessary.

The dispute came into the open when the United States and the Soviet Union traded

2 Red Attaches Told To Get Out of Mexico

BY CHARLES H. GUPTILL

Mexico City — (P) — Mexico has ordered two Soviet embassy attaches expelled from the country, charging they had a hand in the Easter weekend rail strike. Two other red attaches were reported marked to go.

An official source said the second secretary of the Soviet embassy, Nicolai M. Remisov, and a military-naval attaché, Nicolai V. Asenov, were given until Friday to get out of the country. They reportedly plan to take a Canadian airliner Friday morning to Toronto.

Two members of a diplomatic mission from an unidentified Soviet satellite also were reported to have been declared persona non grata — no longer welcome in Mexico. There was speculation they were Czechoslovak or Polish.

Withholding Plan Scored

Governor Hits Back at Assembly GOP Statement

Madison — (P) — Assembly Republicans today attacked Democratic Gov. Gaylord Nelson's plan for a withholding tax plan for paying Wisconsin income taxes, saying taxpayers would have to pay $2.75 in taxes for every $1 local government would receive as a "windfall."

The assembly was promptly labeled "a completely fraudulent representation of the facts" in a statement issued by the governor's office. The Republicans commented in a statement issued at the assembly GOP caucus.

$78 Million Windfall

A bill which would put a withholding system of collecting personal and corporate income taxes into effect this year has been introduced in the assembly, carrying Nelson's endorsement. It would provide a "windfall" of about $78 million, with 54 million earmarked for distribution to local units of government.

"The state department of taxation," the GOP statement said, "has estimated that for local units of government to receive the so-called $54 million 'windfall' a total of $148,100,000 would have to be extracted from the taxpayers of Wisconsin."

Governor's Figures

The governor's statement said the $148 million estimate was correct. The assembly Republicans, it said, leave the impression that the difference between the $54 million and the $148 million "would disappear into thin air."

Actually, it said, the breakdown would be this: $54 million as a "windfall"; $24 million as an additional "windfall" for the state; and $70 million would be distributed to the state, counties and municipalities according to existing income tax distribution formulas.

"If we do not get the $78 million in so-called 'windfall' resulting from the speedup in collections under pay-as-you-go," the governor's statement added, "local governments will simply raise their share from increased property taxes or increased debt and the state will be forced to resort to an additional surtax in incomes."

The Republicans also contended the "tremendous new expense" of administration of the system would not justify the "huge burden which would be imposed on our taxpayers and the employers of the state."

2 U. S. Airmen Die In Crash in Turkey

Adana, Turkey — (P) — Two U. S. airmen were killed and two injured critically last night in the crash of a 4-engine C124 transport near Adana air base. Five airmen escaped unhurt.

The big plane crashed about a mile from the end of the runway after taking off. Authorities at the base said a U. S. investigation would be made.

Map Package Deal On Berlin Crisis

Western Ministers Will Offer Proposals to Soviets

Washington — (P) — Western sponse but were described as agreeing that the effort must be made.

The initial session yesterday, held by Herter with Foreign Sec. Selwyn Lloyd of Britain and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville produced a new warning to Russia against taking a summit conference this summer for granted.

In a public statement, the western Big Three reiterated the stand taken in notes to the Soviet government last week that the May meeting of foreign ministers must make some progress toward solving the Berlin and German problem in order to justify a meeting at the summit.

They welcomed Monday's report from Russia agreeing to participate in Big Four conferences at Geneva. But the western statement last night specified that the German question should be included in the foreign ministers as "advisement of the Soviet note." Proceedings to amend the Constitution so as to authorize such legislation would be proper.

Outlook Not Bright

The western foreign ministers intend to probe Russia's willingness, if any, to negotiate at Geneva next month on German unification and European arms control measures.

They were reported to be pessimistic about the possibility of a favorable Soviet response but were described as agreeing that the effort must be made.

Says Constitution Must be Changed to Make Bingo Legal

Madison — (P) — Atty. Gen. John W. Reynolds has held that the legislature cannot legalize bingo playing in Wisconsin even if the voters give their approval in an advisory referendum.

Reynolds delivered his opinion to the assembly today.

The assembly had asked him if legislation to permit bingo could be enacted if voters approved, without amending the constitution.

The assembly's proposal called for local option to permit bingo if played under auspices of religious, charitable, veteran or similar organizations.

"No such legislation could be enacted without amendment of the Wisconsin Constitution," Reynolds said.

18 to 14 Vote Rejects Appointment Of Milwaukee Man as Chairman Of Powerful Regulatory Agency

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison — The Republican state senate held its lines intact Tuesday as it defeated Gov. Gaylord Nelson's bid to take over control of the Wisconsin public service commission, the state's most powerful regulatory agency.

The Democratic governor today was searching for a new nominee for the chairmanship of the utilities regulation agency, following an 18-14 vote of rejection in the senate of his nomination of Milwaukee Ald. Matthias Schmenz, a Democrat and a controversial figure in the metropolitan community.

Two Republicans Nelson was backed in the Schmenz choice by 12 senate Democrats and two Republicans—Leo O'Brien of Green Bay and Reuben LaFave of Oconto.

Eighteen other Republicans voted as a majority to defeat the governor's most important executive act to date.

The confirmation vote was widely regarded as the first significant test of the unity of the surviving Republican majority in the senate in the face of the electoral decisions of last fall which handed the control of the lower house of the legislature and the governorship to the Democrats for the first time in more than a quarter of a century.

The confirmation vote was preceded by some of the most intense maneuvering seen in the statehouse in late years. The pressure of organized labor was mustered on Schmenz' side, without avail.

Caucus Unity
The government had proposed to have the Milwaukee politician, a lawyer and chairman of the Milwaukee council utilities committee, take the seat now occupied by George Steinmetz, a career engineer who was elevated to the commission six years ago.

Name Low Bidder for Bridge Job

Madison — A Kansas City, Mo., firm was the apparent low bidder Tuesday for construction of 29 concrete piers and an abutment on the Wisconsin side of the $12 million toll-free bridge at Superior to link Wisconsin and Minnesota.

The Massman Construction company bid $1,368,748. There were 10 other bids.

The bid is subject to review. Piers involved in the letting today will be on land.

Work on water piers and substructure of the bridge is underway.

The bridge, to be paid for by federal and state funds, will replace two privately-owned toll bridges and permit ship movement without delaying bridge traffic over St. Louis bay.

CAB Says Spin Caused Crash

Washington — A spin-plane crash that killed James H. McClellan, son of Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark) and three companions probably was caused by an "unintentional entry into a spin at too low an altitude to recover," the civil aeronautics board said today.

The plane, a 4-place twin-engine craft, crashed 25 miles northwest of Little Rock, Ark., last July 22 while McClellan was being checked out for a pilot's rating.

The CAB said an inspection of the wreckage and the plane's records disclosed no defects that might have caused the accident.

Coalition Wins Full Control Of Kansas City

Claims Five Seats On City Council; Beat Non-Partisans

Kansas City — A coalition of Democratic factions won control of the city government yesterday, overthrowing the non-partisan organization which smashed the Pendergast machine in 1940.

The Democratic coalition won five seats on the 8-member city council and ended 19 consecutive years of government by the Citizens association, an organization of Democrats, Republicans and Independents.

It was the first defeat ever suffered by the association, formed specifically to challenge the underworld-infested machine of the late Tom Pendergast.

The Citizens association ran on its record, claiming numerous civic improvements and a scandal-free administration. Association candidates said a coalition victory would mean a return of underworld influence in city affairs.

But higher taxes, real and proposed, apparently played a primary role in the association's defeat. Plagued by inadequate revenue, the association supported a proposed earnings tax two years ago. Voters defeated it in a special election by a wide margin.

Campaign Issue
The coalition turned the taxes into a major campaign issue. The coalition promised that it would not raise taxes nor impose new ones. At the same time, the coalition promised general improvements in city services.

The three remaining seats on the council were won by incumbent councilmen who had the endorsement of both the citizens and the coalition. They were Joseph M. Nolan, Thomas J. Gavin and Harry S. Davis. Mayor H. Roe Bartle, also endorsed by both the citizens and the coalition, also won reelection. Under Kansas City's city manager form of government, the mayor actually is the presiding member of the council and has a vote, the same as the other councilmen. All of the executive authority, normally exercised by mayors, is vested in the city manager, who is elected by the council.

Marriage Report

Increasing Number of Urban Catholics Seek Annulments

BY RENNIE TAYLOR
Associated Press Science Writer

San Francisco — P. City-dwelling Catholics are seeking marriage annulments from the Vatican in increasing numbers, and the reason probably is social pressure, a New York psychologist reported today.

The appeals for separation by church ruling came largely from urban areas where Catholics are in the minority, said Dr. Irene R. Kierman, chief guidance expert for the New York city board of education.

Under Pressure
These Catholics, Dr. Kierman said, are under pressure to accept the dominant culture of the community, which includes various religious and non-church groups who accept divorce.

Those who want to maintain their status as Catholics use the annulment instead of divorce, she added.

Dr. Kierman, who is a Catholic, set forth the results of a survey in a paper for the American Orthopsychiatric association.

Total Up
For the decade 1947 through 1956, Dr. Kierman said, the sacred Roman rite in the church court made 1,570 decisions on annulment appeals. The number of cases increased from 22 in 1947 to 246 in 1955 and 268 in 1956, she added.

Her figures showed the rate granted 73 per cent of the decade's annulment applications. In the other 263 cases it upheld the validity of the marriages.

As the number of applications increased, the percentage of decisions favoring annulment decreased. Thus, she added, may have been partially due to an attempt on the part of the church to discourage annulment.

Reporter Requested to Leave Cancer Seminar

Dispute Over Release Times on Stories Results in Ousting of Chicago Writer

Excelsior Springs, Mo. —

A dispute over release times on stories about an American Cancer society seminar here resulted in the society asking a Chicago Tribune reporter to leave the meeting yesterday.

The action came after Roy Gibbons, science editor of the Tribune, had filed a story on viruses and cancer research for the Tuesday morning edition of his newspaper. The society had embargoed the story for publication in Tuesday afternoon newspapers.

Private Seminar

The meeting is a private seminar open to scientists and science writers only by invitation of the Cancer society.

Pat McGrady, Cancer society science editor, said that invitations to the meeting specified that there would be a 24-hour lag between seminar sessions and stories reporting developments at those sessions. McGrady, who asked Gibbons to leave the meeting, said invitations to science writers had included that condition. We will give the Chicago Tribune readers a daily report on what happens, when it happens," McGrady said the 24-hour delay was imposed to provide newsmen more time to develop their stories on technical reports made at the seminar.

Gibbons said he didn't find out about the release procedure for news until Monday, after the seminar had opened. He said he was under instructions from his editor, William D. Maxwell, to cover the meeting on a spot, or immediate basis.

'Did Not Agree'

In Chicago, the Tribune said in an editor's note that science writers for newspapers and press services "submitted to a blackout on live news at the cancer meeting in Excelsior Springs. They agreed to hold back reports of important medical discussions as long as 24 hours."

The Tribune said it "did not agree to any such delay on reporting news, and our science editor, Roy Gibbons, doesn't require 24 hours to evaluate what he has heard. We will give the Chicago Tribune readers a daily report on what happens, when it happens."

The Law and You:

Business Has Many Ways To Manage Its Finances

The law allows a business a wide choice of ways to set itself up, to finance and manage itself.

You may have sole ownership, partnerships, joint ventures, corporations; and with these classes you may have many different forms and purposes. They range in size from the smallest business to the billion-dollar corporation; it promises to pay back with interest when your bond matures.

To meet modern business conditions, to get full tax advantage, and to protect investors, for example, the law provides many ways for a company to finance itself. And these, in turn, influence the kind of management it can have, and the way it conducts its affairs.

We sometimes speak of "stocks and bonds," for example, as if they were one and the same.

But when you buy a share of stock in a company, you own a particular piece of its property. But what do you have when you buy a corporation's bond? You own nothing of the company. Instead, you are lending money which offers to pay back with interest when your bond matures. But what do you have when you buy a corporation's bond? You own nothing of the company. Instead, you are lending money which offers to pay back with interest when your bond matures.

Bondholders Paid First

Unlike a stockholder, a bondholder as a rule has little to say directly about who manages and how he manages the company. Remotely, a bond buyer by withholding or providing money may influence the company's ability to expand. The bondholder gets only his interest payments, and which come before the stockholder's "dividends," since he takes less of a risk than the stockholders.

Thus if the corporation quits or goes bankrupt, it must pay the bondholders off before the stockholders get anything out of the assets.

Where does the "preferred" stock come in? As a rule, preferred stockholders collect a fixed dividend — after the bondholders are paid but before the "common" stockholders get anything. There are many kinds of preferred stock arrangements. But in return for their first chance at the profits, the preferred stockholders often give up any voting rights or ability to control the company directly. (The State Bar of Wisconsin does not advise. Facts may change the application of the law.)

Cartoon Judged Best Letter to Editor

Mrs. Raymond Sommers' Drawing Wins Her Honorary Editor Title

Mrs. Raymond A. Sommers, 47 West Court, who answered a Post-Crescent editorial cartoon on censorship with a cartoon of her own, Tuesday was named honorary editor-in-chief of the Post-Crescent for 1959. The award was presented by Editor Victor I. Minahan Jr. during the second annual People's Forum awards dinner held at Alex's. Nine other letter writers also received certificates designating them honorary associate editors. Winning letters were selected from hundreds submitted to the People's Forum during 1958 on a variety of subjects. In presenting the awards,

Editor Minahan noted that letters to the editor are among the most widely read articles in the newspaper and declared they play a key role in maintaining a free press because they are a means of expressing views which differ with those of the paper's editors. Cartoon Answer Mrs. Sommers' views on censorship did exactly that. The Post-Crescent's editorial page cartoon showed censorship, a black-cloaked figure, entering the door in Appleton with similar figures representing prohibition, blue laws and intolerance, coming up the walk. The cartoon said, "My brothers will be along shortly." The cartoon ran during a dispute on censorship of motion pictures. Mrs. Sommers' "letter" also was a cartoon, with a woman representing lewd, obscene entertainment entering Appleton's door. Coming up the walk were other figures representing lowered standards of morality, broken homes, desertion, divorce, crime and delinquency. Her cartoon said, "My sisters will be along shortly." Other winners and their topics were: Mrs. Marlyn Nelson, route 1, Menasha, also an honorary associate editor in 1958, who wrote two winning letters, one expressing concern about Appleton keeping an eye on developments around its boundaries and the other lamenting the fact that she had failed to take enough interest in school development. 9-year-old Wins Jean Dunwiddie, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Dunwiddie, 848 Higgins avenue, Neenah, wrote why she thought it was right for children to collect for UNICEF on Halloween. Mrs. Leona Mioskowski, 1519 W. Eighth street, expressed concern over the attitude of the city council on the matters of movie censorship and fluoridation because she felt the council was fence straddling on the issues. Leonard E. Pasek, 120 N. Green Bay road, called the remarks of a county board supervisor on the UW extension center site problem shortsighted and naive. Mrs. Louis E. Wise, 108 N. Green Bay road, lamented the ravaging of the wild area in a ravine off John street to make way for the new high-level bridge. Sylvester Strelow, 801 Milwaukee street, Menasha, told of his woes as a "cornered" taxpayer, whose corner property was getting taxed double because of its facing two streets.

Dog Letters The Rev. Andrew Van Groll, O. F. M., Monte Alverno Retreat house, wrote several letters on the dog situation, poking a bit of fun at those who approached the issue too seriously and objected, through the forum, to his letters. Mrs. John H. Kern, Jr., 3084 W. Wisconsin avenue, who learned about censorship in Germany, her native land, and took a firm stand against it. Mrs. James Ciske, 307 S. Schaefer street, who felt that censorship is needed at times and concluded, "Please please, censor."

Principal speaker at the dinner, Charles House, Post-Crescent columnist, discussed his experiences on a trip up the Alaskan highway in the middle of winter. Marshall Granros, Post-Crescent promotion manager, was master of ceremonies. Post-Crescent editorial department heads were hosts.

"My brothers will be along shortly"

The Drawing at Right, in answer to a Post-Crescent editorial cartoon on censorship, left, won Mrs. Raymond Sommers, 47 West court, the top award at Tuesday's People's Forum awards dinner. Mrs. Sommers

"My Sisters will be Along Shortly"

also was named honorary editor of the Post-Crescent for 1959. Nine other letter writers were named honorary associate editors.

Charlie Delves Into History of Humor for April 1 Tomfoolery

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

History may not be your forte, but surely the history of waggery and sturdy japes which accompany the arrival of April Fool's day is appropriate for today's stunt.

April Fool's day is well documented in time. As early as 24 B. C., Eric the Miscreant wrote:

"'It is the custyme off thyss plyce to sende foolishe felowes offe unto distaynt plyces for the whiche to gathere foolishe thynges like unto the gonge of the belle, or the Swan's whysle, or the reporte of the gunne."

"I do notte neede to saye that therye is none such. Thenne when the foole returns to the sendere, he is tolde that he is an asse and an Avril Foole that he culde be so gulled as to thynk one culde brynge back the reporte, or the sounde of a gunne, the whyside of a Swan or the gonge of a belle."

In 3,000 B.C., a Hindustani named Haiji was the talk of the Moslem world because of his robust and broad sense of humor.

Some Joke!

Early records show that Haiji would open an eggshell carefully and fill the empty shells with explosives. He would then carefully reveal the egg and wax it so that it showed no sign of tampering. Then he would place the loaded egg among 11 innocent ones and have it delivered to the object of his joke.

One tap of the egg was enough to blow off a man's hand, and it did. Naturally, everybody laughed until one April Fool's day Haiji got so reckless as to pull the joke on Hsai, the mightiest Kiaz in the history of that violent country. Hsai lost his hand, but Haiji lost his life by hanging. It was perhaps just that he was hanged at the very lip of the mine whence he had obtained his explosives.

Another April Fool's day

enough to let them descend amidst a laughing populace.

There can be little doubt as to the validity of the Ysius tale. It is amply recorded in the works of Kenani, Bobogi and in the diary of Ysius himself, retained in the Oxford university library.

Caveman's Humor

April Fool's day goes back into history as far as man's sense of humor, which is a long time, indeed. On a cave in Germany, the site of some valuable discoveries relating to prehistoric man, there is a sketch carved into the moist wall. The sketch, dated by Hebraic symbols, indicates an approximate April 1, though the exact year—also carved—is indistinct.

The sketch shows an ape-like man about to sit on a stool. Behind him, and virtually bursting with laughter, is another apish fellow who is depicted in the act of placing his spear in the spot where it will create ape No. 1 to leap high into the air. So humor is, indeed, older than civilization.

Edmund Cleary of the British Museum of Natural History made an almost unbelievable discovery in his exploration of the peat bogs of Ireland.

Ancient Papyrus

His discovery in 1922 of some bundle burials of the 12 years was reported last week to the city health department. It crumbled at the touch. The papyrus, too delicate for unrolling, was consigned to the meases, 35 of chicken pox, 16 panions went on to Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., where they when a new process made it possible to unroll the ancient paper and study the inscriptions. One of the pieces read:

"Unfurl canthi mubla-na," ancient Gaelic, which translated to "Speed your foot to my bottom." This simply is another way of saying the thing that children do to this very day when they secretly affix a sign to the back of a comrade—the sign saying precisely the same thing: "Kick me hard."

So you see the history of humor goes back to the dawn of mankind, and it has, throughout the dim ages of time past been associated always with April 1. . . .

If the foregoing seems difficult to accept as great truths, one needs only to consider that this is April 1 and that I, too, like a joke.

Switch Richmond School Playground To Telulah Park

Telulah park will be used for a recreation department summer playground this year in place of Richmond school grounds.

Recreation commissioners ordered the switch after it was reported the school grounds will be needed during construction of an addition to the school.

Recreation Director Elmer W. Grover said he does not want to use Interlake park because it would mean equipment storage in the school and many trips daily across busy John street.

Rare Skin Disease Reported to City

The city's first case of erysipelas, a communicable skin disease, in at least the last 12 years was reported last week to the city health department.

Latest statistics show March produced 131 cases of the measles, 35 of chicken pox, 16 panions went on to Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., where they when a new process made it possible to unroll the ancient

Complete Winter Program Ordered For Youth Center

Recreation Director Elmer W. Grover has been ordered by the recreation commission to draft a complete 1959-60 winter program for Teen Town youth center within the next month.

The program, Grover was told, should include ice skating and tobogganing, since there is ample room for both near the Reid Municipal Golf course clubhouse, home of the center.

Grover reported he tentatively plans to have the center open four nights a week when it reopens next fall after the golfing season. Two nights would be for junior high youths, two for senior high, he said.

An average nightly attendance of 185 was reported by Grover for the trial period begun earlier this year. Mrs. Harold Ornstein, commissioner, said the center's activities were exceptionally well run by Mr. and Mrs. Cyril J. Burton, supervisors.

Grover said he has asked the park board to consider building a small addition to the clubhouse and a study is underway.

Firm Stand on Berlin May Avert New War, German General Says

Kansas City —P— There will be no war very soon in Germany if the west stands firm on Berlin, the top operations officer of the West German army said last night.

Brig. Gen. Ernst - August Lassen told a reporter:

"The military might of the United States is so great it will prevent the Russians from embarking on a full-scale war."

The general and seven comrades went on to Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., where they will visit the U. S. Command and General Staff college.

Planes Won't Change Flights To West Berlin

protests over the flight of a U. S. air force transport into West Berlin Friday.

The transport — a C130 Hercules turbojet flying at its normal cruising altitude of about 20,000 feet — was buzzed by three Soviet MIG jets on its inbound and return flight to West Germany.

The Russians insist on a 10,000-foot ceiling for allied planes, saying flights at greater heights imperil Soviet planes crossing the corridor. The United States refuses to recognize the ceiling.

The Soviet spokesman in East Berlin, J. W. Bebuorov, told a reporter that the United States had no right to "unilaterally alter a regulation of years standing."

"If a change in the regulations is desired then negotiations must be carried out," Bebuorov added.

Object to Flight Plans

Asked what would happen if the United States kept sending in planes at high altitudes, Bebuorov replied without elaborating: "Complications."

Bebuorov said the buzzing of the Hercules had taken place after the Soviet delegate in Berlin's air safety center had objected to the pilot's flight plans for flying over 10,000 feet.

The Big Four air safety center controls all flights in and out of West Berlin and flight plans must be registered with it in advance.

The United States originally protested that the buzzing of the American plane seriously endangered it.

In a counter-protest the Soviet Union retorted that the allied planes had the right to fly at any altitude within the air corridor. It pointed out that the Hercules, first of its type to fly into West Berlin, normally cruised at high altitudes because of its turbojet engines.

Responsible allied sources said the United States would continue to send the high-altitude Hercules planes into the next few days.

U. S. authorities were considering dispatching one of the Hercules planes into the next few days.

While Crossing a Railroad bridge near Rochester, N. Y., this horse's hind legs became wedged between the ties. With the help of 14 men it was hoisted out, apparently unhurt, but only after it had held up a freight train for an hour and a half.

lines strewn the roads and fields, and many utility poles had snapped.

Jack Triplett said the tornado "hit just like lightning." It sheared away half of his 6-room stone house and demolished the barn. None of the family suffered injuries.

Heard Storm Coming

Bill Orr, his wife and four children searched through the ruins of their home at Bynum this morning, picking up remaining valuables and the children's toys.

Said Orr, "I heard this terrible roar at about 9:15 p.m. and my wife and I jumped up and grabbed the kids and ran into a southeast bedroom and jumped under the bed. We just got under the bed when the tornado hit."

The freak Marshall tornado badly damaged the brick home of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Spencer in a thickly populated area of a new housing addition. It took off the roof and heavily damaged the interior. The tornado lifted back up and touched nothing more.

Debris from the Spencer home struck a house across the street. No one actually saw the twister, but many persons reported the typical roar at 3:30 a.m.

At Vaughan, the twister flattened all the half dozen houses, the gas station and two churches. A cotton gin was ripped in half.

Saw Funnel

Highway Patrolmen Doug Howard and A. D. Langston told of spotting two writhing and six miles long northeast funnels. The twisters moved east to Bynum and killed two more persons. About 350 persons live there. Bynum and Vaughan are about 70 miles south of here.

A house was blown away about four miles southwest of Hillsboro, south of Dallas. An auto was blown off the highway as Dr. Burner drove home struck a house across the street. No one actually saw the twister, but many children. Mrs. Bruner was killed and Bruner and one child were injured.

State Highway Patrolman Ray Wallace said the tornado seemed to move right down a straight line and flattened everything in their path at Aquilla and another from Vaughan eastward.

Another tornado cut a path of destruction one mile wide near Gainesville was reported of spotting two writhing and six miles long northeast and Sen. Panzer of Dodge county, the Republican president of the state senate.

Average 6 Per Cent

It would assess the judges an average of 6 per cent of their salaries for payments into the retirement fund. The state general fund would make good any deficits.

Under the ordinary retirement fund, annuities are figured according to the amounts of contributions made on payrolls by the state for employees and by the covered employees.

Other judicial retirement guarantees proposed would permit a judge who is 65, with 20 years of service, to retire at 50 per cent of salary and a judge who is 60 years, with 25 years of service, to retire at half pay.

In the event of the death of a justice or a judge before or after retirement, an amount ## equal to 25 per cent of his average salary for the last five years of his service would be paid to his family.

Recommend for Passage Bill on Tavern Hours

Madison—A—The assembly excise and fees committee recommended Tuesday passage of a bill that would permit all Wisconsin taverns to remain open until 2 a.m. during daylight saving time. The vote was 8-1.

It would be up to local communities to decide whether the taverns could stay open beyond the usual closing hour of 1 a.m. in all counties except Milwaukee where they now close at 2 a.m.

The assembly state affairs committee voted 6-4 against any extension of daylight saving time. It recommended killing a bill that would extend daylight saving through October to conform with some other states.

The assembly agriculture committee voted 5-4 to recommend passage of a bill that would raise the butterfat content in white and chocolate milk from 3.3 to 3.5 per cent.

Soviet Premier Quick to Sidestep During Failures

BY WILLIAM L. RYAN

New York — Stubby Nikita Khrushchev planted himself in the middle of a field, surrounded by awed farmers and communist functionaries. A brisk breeze fanned to motion the tiny wisps of white hair on his nearly naked round dome.

"Here," exclaimed Khrushchev, pointing dramatically to the corn "is the complete sausage on the handle! Here is beefsteak: here is bacon! How will these plants look in a month and a half, when harvest comes? The cobs will be a half yard long. Now you understand why I am so enthusiastic about corn!"

This was the new Khrushchev of recent vintage, Khrushchev the boss. He spoke about the pressing need for animal fodder. Who would dare remind him that his own experimenting in the past had almost cost him his head. He spoke about the U. S. S. R.'s livestock population?

Khrushchev owed much of his career to his interest in agriculture and his knowledge of the farmer. Boss at last, he could talk confidently about his big ideas. It hadn't been so in the past. His first big idea about farming, in fact, was Andrei Andreyevich Andreyev, old "Triple A." weak, inefficient, always tottering on the edge of disaster. For the aggressive Khrushchev, Andreyev was a pushover. This summer's summit meeting, if it comes off, will seat President Eisenhower across the table from a man experienced in the arts of political infighting and communist intrigue. This article, third of a series, tells more of the kind of antagonist Khrushchev can be.

Farms, said Khrushchev, would be transformed into agricultural factories. Farmers would become farm industry workers. Small collectives would be merged on a vast Life Began at 40 for Nikita Khrushchev who was on his way up the communist ladder when he sported this Lenin lapel decoration as general party secretary in the Ukraine in 1939. Twenty years later, older and far more powerful, Khrushchev was the fur-capped and unchallenged boss of Soviet communists.

He reckoned without the scale into huge farm factories. He pushed through thousands of amalgamations, but suddenly Stalin slapped him down and halted the program.

The coal miner from Kurak listened in brooding silence at the twentieth communist congress in October, 1962. Georgi Malenkov, Stalin's dour right hand, referred to Khrushchev as one of "our individual executive workers" who erred in trying to force farm consolidation.

"They tried," thundered Malenkov, "to bring about a forced tempo the mass resettlement of villages in large collective settlements, to demolish old collective farm installations and homes of collective farmers, to create instead agrogorods."

He Bounced Back

But Khrushchev had bounced. Despite this awesome blast, he emerged from the 1962 congress a member of the expanded presidium which supplanted the politburo, and a member of an expanded party secretariat. He lost no time in nailing down his influence.

Malenkov would live to rue his words. Long after Stalin's death, Khrushchev would revert to 1952 and blame Malenkov for the sorry state of Soviet agriculture then. He would succeed in having Malenkov thrown out of the hierarchy.

Shortly after the 1952 congress, the lives of all politburo members were in grave danger. Stalin, to quote a diplomat of the day, had "reached for the bottle again." A new blood purge was in the making. Stalin's assistants fabricated a fantastic story about a plot of doctors, most of them Jewish, to poison Stalin and other leading figures.

Luckily for the politburo—some say it was more than coincidence—Stalin died in March, 1953.

Malenkov took both Stalin jobs: premier and first party secretary, in control of both party and government. Within two weeks, Khrushchev nudged Malenkov from the party job.

Story Reversed

Those were nervous days. The new leadership, calling it self "collective," felt impelled to promise abundance to the long suffering public. It apparently felt the need of popular support, something unheard of in Stalin's day. The beat and once again beat.

whole fantastic story of the doctor's plot was reversed. But not for three years did the Soviet public learn why.

At the 1956 congress, Khrushchev sobbed out the terrifying story. Not a man on the politburo had been safe, he recalled, after the obscure Dr. Timashuk unfolded her fantastic tale of the plot.

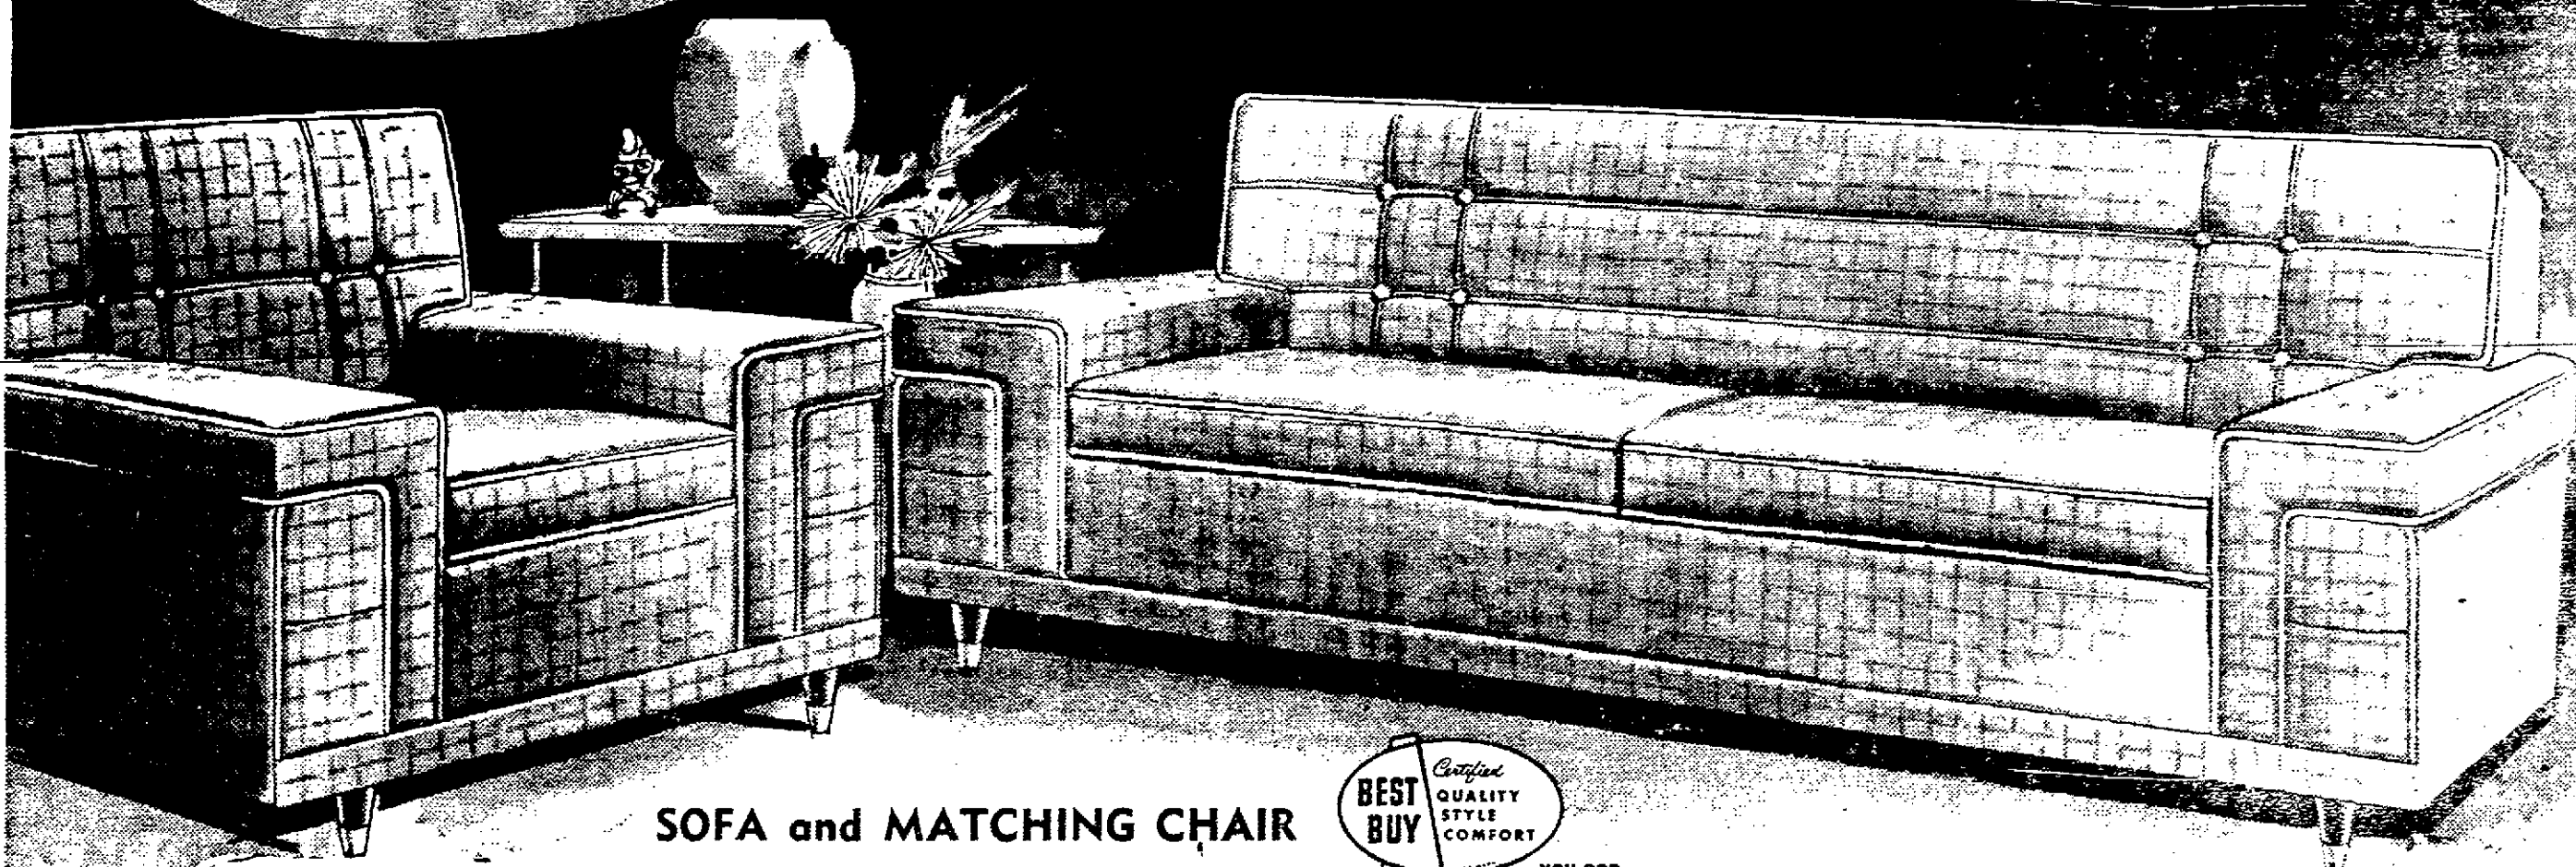

"Let us recall the affair of the doctor-plotters," said Khrushchev. "Actually there was no affair outside the declaration of the woman Doctor Timashuk who was influenced or ordered by someone—after all she was an unofficial collaborator of the organs of state security—to write Stalin a letter in which she declared that doctors were applying supposedly improper methods of medical treatment."

"Such a letter was enough for Stalin to reach the immediate conclusion that there were doctor-plotters in the Soviet Union. Stalin personally called the investigating judge and gave him instructions, advising him which investigative methods should be used. These methods were simple: Beat, beat and once again beat."

West led a club and East cashed the ace and king and returned a third club. Declarer won with her jack and discarded dummy's six of spades on the trick. South now led her king of hearts and West took it with his ace and returned a small heart. Declarer won the trick in dummy with the nine, led a small diamond to her ace, then played three rounds of spades, trumping the third round in dummy with the jack of hearts.

Declarer then ruffed another diamond in her hand and then played her losing spade. West had nothing but trumps and had to lead a trump from his ten-six into South's queen-eight, which gave her the last two tricks and her contract.

'The Tables Turned'—It's the Daughter He Likes, Not Mom

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I'm a mature girl 19, and hold a responsible position with an accounting firm. My mother is only 36 and has been a widow for seven years. She's lively and attractive, and people frequently take us for sisters. About six months ago she started to date a divorced man. He is 30 years old, successful in business, and very good-looking. I was shocked when I first met him because I felt he was too young for Mother. But I said nothing because she was crazy about him and she hoped it would lead to marriage.

The three of us had a lot of fun together — until last week. He asked me to meet him for lunch and requested I say nothing to Mother. I knew something was wrong. To put it bluntly, he's in love with ME not her. He swears he never meant it to be this way, and I believe him. He's really a very decent guy.

I have no romantic interest in him whatever. In fact, I have a boy friend in the navy. Do you think I owe it to my mother to tell her? I'm afraid it may break her heart. Yet, maybe she ought to know. — Jasmine

Dear Jasmine: Say nothing. When her dream world collapses it will be tough enough without this additional barb. Spare her the humiliation.

DEAR ANN LANDERS:

Dear Old Timer: In my opinion, it would be perfectly proper for a man 37 years old (who doesn't look his age) to invite his cousin to visit in his home. You'll both be perfectly safe without a chaperone.

President Sends Gift of Steuben Glass to Tokyo

Tokyo—Two large box-nounced gifts of food, live animals, beverages, weapons, cash or securities would not be accepted. A spokesman said gifts from private persons should not exceed $3,333 in value, but the limit does not apply to official gifts.

Reliable sources said the Eisenhowers sent a crystal bowl and an electrically illuminated vase, valued at $1,400. The American embassy is expected to deliver them in the next few days. The wedding is April 10.

Japanese law prohibits the crown prince from accepting gifts, so the diet (parliament) hastily pushed through a bill last month lifting the ban between March 21 and April 30. The first foreign gift to be received was a silver and gold Peruvian objet d'art from President Manuel Prado one per customer — when do of Peru and his wife. Mom. ## A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

For Good Figure

However slender, both teen and mature figures are improved by a brassiere. For the teen, this means a light garment, especially designed to mold the growing figure. For the woman, it means brassieres that lift and define curves.

Bras, sized AA to A, enhance contours by means of diagonal constructions, cushioned wiring, stiffened banding and laminated padding.

But so that your choice contributes to health and comfort as well as appearance, seek the advice and fitting skill of the corsetiere in your favorite mart. You need her services far more than damsels with model proportions. Once you've got hold of the right bra, put it on the right way. Lean forward from the waist and ease the bosom into the cups. Then fasten the hooks and adjust the straps, so that bra comfortably snugs the body.

Now to answer a frequently asked question: At what age should a girl begin to wear a bra? If bosom development has begun, you are not too young. You are never too old!

Free China a Woman's World, Says Woman in Government

BY DOROTHY ROE
AP News Columnist

Free China today is a woman's world, says petite Elizabeth Wang, a member of the Taiwan Legislature, now visiting America at the invitation of the U. S. Department of State.

"We have 64 women members of the Legislative Yuan out of 500," says Mrs. Wang. "In the National Assembly there are 210 women. There is no field in business, the professions or the arts where women are not making distinguished records."

A graduate of the University of North Carolina, she is married to C. Y. Wang, also a member of the Legislature, and has three sons: Bobby, 17, a student at Chen-Kung University; Eddie, 15, and Frank, 3.

Long Chinese Names
"We call them by American names," laughs Mrs. Wang. "They have long Chinese names, too, but these are easier."

In Good Taste Hostess of Party Pays All Expense

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I would very much like your opinion on the following matter: My daughter is going to be married shortly and a friend of hers who is to be maid of honor at her wedding is planning to give a large shower for her. Last night she came over to discuss the shower with me and asked me to contribute $50 toward it as she couldn't afford to give it alone. I was so taken back by this that for a moment I was speechless. As this is the first wedding in my family I am not familiar with present-day shower giving and I would like to know if the mother of the bride is supposed to contribute anything toward the shower.

Answer: Very definitely not! As she is giving the shower, she should pay for it herself and not expect you to contribute toward the expense of it. In fact, I have never heard of anything so high handed before. She should either give a shower of the size she can afford or else not give one at all.

Crowded Elevator
Dear Mrs. Post: Does etiquette require a gentleman to step aside in an elevator in order to permit a woman (not with him) to leave first?

Answer: If there is plenty of space, a gentleman does let a lady go ahead of him. But if he is standing directly in front of the door and the elevator is crowded, he is certainly not expected to become an immovable obstacle blocking the way of those who want to go past, and in this case it is best that he clear the way by leaving as quickly as possible.

Knife Correct
Dear Mrs. Post: Is it considered correct to use a knife to cut a poached egg on toast? A friend and I have been having an argument about this and she insists that a fork should be used and not a knife. Will you please set us straight.

Answer: A knife is correct.

Elizabeth was born in Kiangsu province, on the mainland of China, and was educated in Chinese schools and colleges before coming to the United States to take a master's degree at Chapel Hill, N. C.

"I got back to China just before Pearl Harbor," says this modern daughter of an ancient race. "I was married in the early days of the war, and then afterward came the Communist conquest of our country. My husband and I escaped to Formosa with our children."

"The constitution of Taiwan was adopted in 1947, and I have been a member of the Legislature since 1948. There is so much to be done, the need and the opportunity are so great, and the days never seem long enough to get everything done."

Modern Japanese Home
Mrs. Wang and her family live in a modern Japanese style home in the city of Taipei, and have three servants—a nursemaid, a housekeeper and a chauffeur to drive the tri-cycle ricksha which is the family vehicle.

Women of Taiwan don't waste time debating about whether to have a career or marriage, says Mrs. Wang—they have both, as a matter of course, working at their job during business hours, taking part in all community and national issues and running their homes with graciousness and ease.

"Everybody who wants to work can get a job in Taiwan," says she. "We have great prosperity, and great development. We have no beggars, no illiteracy and no juvenile delinquency. Sometimes it takes disaster to bring out the full powers of a people. I think that is true today of Free China."

Assembly Approves Bill on Kindergartens

Madison — The assembly passed a bill which would permit local school boards to discontinue kindergartens. They can do this under present law, only in case where the enrollment is under 15.

Another bill passed would exempt new school employees from chest X-ray requirements if they had received one during the previous two years.

David Blanchard, R-Edgerton, introduced a bill which would permit a farmer to deduct, as farm expense for state income tax purposes, money spent for soil or water conservation. This would include such things as construction, working at their job during business hours, taking and planting of windbreaks.

Wainer's Wife Faints During Murder Inquest

Postpone Hearing Into Death of Ex-New London Man

An inquest into the slaying of Hyman (Heinie) Wainer, former New London bootlegger, has been continued until April 9 after his widow fainted at Tuesday's session in Chicago.

An attorney for Mrs. Evelyn Goodman Wainer, 48, in whose apartment Wainer died after being shot, said, "Mrs.

Wainer is in no condition to testify today.

"I've got a lot of questions I want to ask that widow about her husband," Cook county Coroner Walter E. McCarron said.

Wainer, about 54, was shot three times March 16 at the rear of his Chicago northside apartment. He was convicted in Wisconsin in 1935 as leader of a bootleg gang and served two years in prison. His bootleg ring was called the biggest in the midwest, outside Chicago.

Police officers testified they have little to help them in solving the slaying. One detective testified Wainer was shot in the arm in the same spot in November, 1958, and that he survived an auto bombing in March, 1958.

GOP Unity Beats Nelson Nominee

by former Gov. Walter J. Kohler. The result of the senate vote is that Steinmetz will hold his chair until the governor appoints another man and wins confirmation for him.

Politically, the confirmation vote was regarded as a test of the GOP upper house caucus unity on other and more difficult partisan divisions that are due — including the state income tax withholding law that has been introduced on behalf of the Democratic governor.

The senate has not rejected a gubernatorial nominee for the public service commission since the regime of former Gov. Philip LaFollette in the 1930s. Several later nominations of Republican governors have been turned down, however, with the help of Republican votes and Democrats have frequently voted against nominations of recent Republican executives.

Some "Breaks" Republicans got some "breaks" in their design to defeat the Nelson choice. Their floorleader was Sen. Busby of Milwaukee, a liberal Republican and leader of the celebrated senate "mavericks," as a quartet of independent Republicans are called. The mavericks followed the Busby lead.

They were able to deplore the dismissal of a "loyal career servant," as they described Steinmetz, and to question Schimenz' judicial capacity because of the stiff fight made against him by Milwaukee county suburban communities that claim the Milwaukee alderman is biased against them in water supply litigation.

Busby also complained about the "tremendous pressure" exerted on behalf of Nelson's choice.

Known as pro-labor during his political career, Busby said "such pressure should not be exerted on this senate. It is coercion." He was understood to be deploring the campaign of organized labor in the case.

The labor involvement complaint was echoed by Sen. Hendee, another Milwaukee suburban representative who wondered why the labor lobbyists were so "singularly" interested.

As Gov. Nelson's views are reliably reported, he had hoped for a favorable vote on his nominee, but feels he isn't especially damaged by his defeat. The Republican senate, he feels, stands convicted of prejudice in refusing to accept an outstanding Milwaukee city official for the major state assignment.

Illegal Closed Shop Found in Contract

Washington — The national labor relations board has held that an illegal closed shop was created by a contract requiring that the Honolulu Star-Bulletin hire only union printers.

On that basis the NLRB ordered the newspaper to pay back to its former and present composing room employees all dues and assessments collected in the last 2½ years for the International Typographical union. The ruling was made despite a showing that the Star-Bulletin, in the face of the contract provision, has regularly employed a number of non-union printers. It was pointed out, as a matter of some bearing on the case, that printers are scarce in Hawaii.

Doctor Turns To Easel for Relaxation

London — Prescription for a doctor: Take up painting.

"Since I started painting," says Dr. Phoebe Tuttnauer, "I haven't once been in a bad mood—all my patients say so."

He started four years ago, at 65. He has exhibited at the Royal Academy and one of London's most exclusive galleries is showing 28 of his paintings.

"I paint on weekends, and I have an easel in the bathroom next to my consulting rooms," he says.

"If a patient doesn't show up, or if I have a few minutes between appointments, I don't waste my time—I go to the nearby bathroom and paint."

Critics call his work primitive—with a "naive, child-like vision." The doctor covers canvases with fantastic landscapes. He signs his paintings "Tuttsi" or "Tutt." He has given some to patients.

"Even so my house got full of my own paintings," he said, "so I had to put on an exhibition."

Judge Says Corporal Punishment Is Legal

Teachers Can Use Force to Enforce Discipline in Class

Teachers have the right under state law to mete out corporal punishment to students, County Judge Stanley A. Staidl has told Supt. of Schools John P. Mann.

Mann asked about teachers' authority during one of the series of PTA meetings on juvenile delinquency in Appleton.

Not since 1878 has the state supreme court varied from its position that a teacher is responsible for discipline in a school and has the right to use corporal punishment and expulsion to maintain it, Judge Staidl indicates.

Extreme Cases When corporal punishment has resulted in court actions for assault and battery, the jurist continues, "it usually occurred where excessive force or punishment has been inflicted in the 'heat of passion'." It would have to be an extreme case before the courts would entertain such an action.

There have been no cases on corporal punishment or expulsion before the supreme court since the early 1900s. Judge Staidl said the case which sets the precedent for use of corporal punishment was in 1878 school administration are under the school, as in the family, tant as to just what discipline there exists on the part of the ar methods legally could be pupils the obligation of obedisubordination, civil department, respect for the rights of other pupils and fidelity to duty.

School Law "These obligations are inherent in any proper school system, and constitute the common law of the school."

"Every pupil is presumed to know this law and is subject to it, whether it has or has not been reenacted by the board in the form of written rules and regulations."

"Indeed, it would seem impossible to frame rules which would cover all cases of insubordination; the teacher is liable to encounter daily and hourly."

The teacher is responsible for the discipline of his school, and for the progress, conduct and deportment of his pupils. It is his imperative duty to maintain good order and to require of his pupils a faithful performance of their duties. If he fails to do so, he is unfit for his position.

Enforcement Power "To enable him to discharge these duties effectually, he must necessarily have the power to enforce promptly obedience to his lawful commands."

"For this reason, the law gives him the power in proper cases, to inflict corporal punishment upon refractory pupils."

Baseball Returns to TV

April 11 in Saturation

Jingo Suggests ABC-TV Has Chance To Build Up Big 'Anti' Audience

BY JINGO

Man the towels for those who wept when Sunday afternoon "think" shows were sacrificed to local bowlthons and other rag-tag nonsense: Baseball's upon us.

WBAY-TV and WFRV-TV between them will carry 90 major league games Saturday and Sunday afternoons, starting April 11.

This time it's not the fault of the local stations that the last few hours of cultural television will go by the screens. The blame's the network's.

Which makes Jingo wonder why the other major network, ABC-TV, doesn't shoot the works on Sunday afternoon programming.

Bucking 1-way programming by the other networks with something different-but-good worked wonderfully for ABC-TV when it sent "Maverick" against the Sunday night variety show kings, Sullivan and Allen.

"Sure, 'Maverick' is an exceptionally well scripted series, not only a departure from the endless 'variety,' but something new in its own type. But, you can bet its audience includes people who just can't stand Sullivan or Allen.

The baseball saturation, at least on Sundays, Jingo believes is fraught with even greater audience-grabbing potential for ABC-TV.

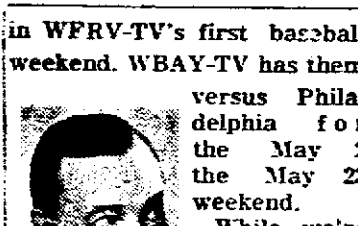

It may be the great American game, but it's hard to believe baseball has the universality of appeal that a variety show has.

Gals with golfing husbands, those cultural cats and others who may find baseball boring ought to have some alternative.

The Braves, by the way, are matched with the Pirates

Jingo

Evans

WBAY-TV has them versus Philadelphia for the May 23 weekend.

While we're clean in up sports notes: "Today," the WFRV-TV morning show, starts a 4-day series on baseball Monday. The Thursday climax will be a 2-hour all-baseball effort.

WMBV-TV's "Wednesday Night Fights" will telecast the return Archie Moore-Yvon Durelle light heavyweight title bout July 15. NBC-TV will televise Las Vegas' rich "tournament of Champions" golf finals Sunday, April 26.

Just Ramblin': Sir John Gielgud makes his American TV debut Thursday, April 23, opposite Margaret Leighton in "The Browning Version" on "Show of the Month." It's by the author of the movie hit, "Separate Tables." A week from Sunday is the date for Maurice Evans and Piper Laurie in "GE Theater's" adaptation of the first act of the Shaw's "Caesar and Cleopatra." Gertrude Berg's the meddlesome mother and Betsy Von Furstenberg her exasperated married daughter in "Steel Hour's" comedy, "Trouble - In - Law," next week.

They're billing the James Mason - Fabrizio Mioni duel in "A Sword for Marius," the April 13 "Goodyear Theater" as the most realistic in the last 40 years of the theater. "Desilu Playhouse" will present a 2-part drama, "The Untouchables," on April 20 and 27. It's about the six hand-picked FBI agents who wrecked the Capone bootleg racket in Chicago. Stars include Robert Stack, Keenan Wynn, Bill Williams, Neville Brand as Capone, Mary Murphy, Bruce Gordon and Barbara Nichols.

Betty Field has been added

2nd Leading Lady Quits 'Touch of Poet'

New York — (U) — A second leading lady is quitting the hit Broadway play, "A Touch of the Poet" in a huff.

Kim Stanley walked out last week, attributing her resignation to personal differences with a co-star, Eric Portman.

Nancy Malone, her 24-year-old understudy who took over the role, says her complaint is pride linked with money. She handed in her 2-weeks notice Thursday.

Turned Down

As an understudy, Miss Malone got $150 a week plus $35 whenever she appeared on the stage when Miss Stanley was ill. She was offered $450 on taking over permanently—but demanded $500.

Producer Robert Whitehead turned down her demand. Whitehead said he has in mind two or three actresses who could play the role of Sara Melody—the part Miss Malone took over.

Sara's mother is played by the veteran Helen Hayes, who has kept out of the backstage bickering that has plagued the play. The father is played by Eric Portman.

The play resumes its run Monday after a week's vacation.

Charges for Use of Goodland Field Set Same as Last Year

Charges for use of Goodland field will be the same as last year, the recreation commission has decided.

Afternoon dates will cost $5 rental and $2 for the showers. Evening dates will be $6 an hour or 5 per cent of the gate plus $2 for showers.

The American Legion Juniors will get five free right games and the high school "B" football teams and football teams will not be charged.

Commissioners told Recreation Director Elmer W. Grov, he could deny use of the field to any organizations if rowdyism occurs.

The fees do not affect the Fox Cities Foxes, since they use the field under a special contract with the commission.

to the cast of "Ah, Wilderness," due April 28, with Helen Hayes, Lloyd Nolan and Burgess Meredith. Miss Hayes and Miss Field are co-starring on Broadway in another O'Neil play, "A Touch of the Poet." Ben Gage, who scored as Marshall Doolley in the spoof "Gunshy" on "Maverick," plays an immortal All-American fullback in the April 15 Donna Reed story. Natasha Lytess, Hollywood dramatic coach of Marilyn Monroe, will portray a domineering spinster accused of crime in the suicide of her sister, on "Accused" next week. It's her second acting assignment in 10 years.

Amateur Rocketmen to Face Charges Over Mhsile Gone Astray

Nashville, Tenn. — (P) — A grand jury will consider the case of three amateur experimenters who launched a rocket that crashed through a roof a half mile away.

Charles E. Nichols, 25; his brother, Warren D. Nichols, 27; and Tommy Baggott, 21, were held to the grand jury yesterday after pleading guilty to two counts of violating the state explosives law. Each was released in $2,500 bond.

They were arrested after the state fire marshal's office filed charges.

The rocket crashed through William Hall's roof Saturday and set his living room rug afire, causing damages estimated at $150. No one was injured.

Parole System Needs Adequate Funds, Sokolsky Says

BY GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
New York — I saw an item in the "Providence Journal" that a new federal prison in Illinois will cost $110,000,000 which must make a whale of a prison. I am further informed that the New York state "division of parole" has about 13,000 parolees under supervision each year. My informant calculates this year necessary to maintain an inmate in a prison or reformatory, times 13,000 men makes one shudder at the thought that he pays taxes and the difficulties of their community and you have $26 million annual saving to the state; add again the figure saved by having these same men outside supporting or contributing to the support of their families and thereby removing said families from the rolls of public welfare and kindly and gentle person and you probably end up with a total saving to the state of 50-60 million annually as the bare minimum figure. Now all this arithmetic is frightfully startling and it is university graduates and the who, despite their learning tasks, earn about $6,000 a year. However, there is quite another problem. How many of the parolees return to crime? How many mend their ways and become respectable citizens? Every once in a while, when one reads of a frightful act of human debasement, it turns out that a parolee has returned to the very horrible acts which first brought him to prison. Surely, the parole system throughout this country requires re-study and reorganization. And it is ridiculous to entrust men with such serious work and then to underpay them. Provide Money If our state governments and municipalities cut out waste and duplication and graft among politicians and contractors, they would have enough money on hand to pay for teachers, policemen and parole officers. If there is no money to pay for such services, they will deteriorate; decent men and women will decline to serve. This has ceased to be a joke, particularly in the larger cities of the country where all services are deteriorating because pay that criminals must be caged like wild animals or that prison life can be translated into a character building process which will assist the criminal to a better life, whereupon he will be paroled and eventually inducted into society as an honorable man. ## Highway Maintenance Costs are Booming — Especially in Winter

Madison — The increasing importance of road maintenance in the highway improvement budget was spotlighted by this winter's emergency appropriations for winter highway work in localities and the state.

The state highway department reported today that its winter maintenance expenditures for the state trunk highway system probably will reach $5 million, by far the largest total ever recorded, and at least a fifth larger than the previous year.

Higher Standards

Road maintenance costs are booming because of higher standards of service expected and provided during the winter. More intensive snow removal and ice prevention work is matched by more meticulous roadside mowing and brush control, trash pickup, pavement marking and other chores during the rest of the year.

More intensive snow removal and ice prevention work is matched by more meticulous roadside mowing and brush control, trash pickup, pavement marking and other chores during the rest of the year.

Double Cost

Preliminary estimates have it that the maintenance costs on the super roads may go as high as $400,000 a mile, winter maintenance costs and have risen because of a gradual extension of ice prevention work. Three years ago May.

Town Mutuals Bills Face Opposition

Other Insurance Firms Want to Keep Present Limitations

Madison — Spokesmen for mutual and stock casualty insurance companies have opposed at legislative hearings a bill sponsored by town mutual insurance companies that would permit them to do business in six counties, instead of the four counties to which they are limited under present law.

Opposition was also expressed to a proposal that would reduce the reinsurance requirements of the town mutuals.

The town companies, which write fire and windstorm policies in rural areas, claim that their obligations have changed with the changes in transportation and communication.

Neighborhood Groups

Historically the town mutuals, as suggested by their names, were neighborhood protective associations formed by farmers.

They have grown considerably in size, as the legislature has authorized enlargement of the kind of coverage they can offer and the geographical districts they can serve.

They now number about 180 firms, with more than $5,000,000 in premium business annually. They account for about one-seventh of the fire insurance premium income in the state.

State Democrats Step Up News Publication

Circulation of Party's Tabloid Indication of Expanding Budget

Madison — More frequent publication of the party's tabloid news organ is a sign of the expanding budget of the Democratic party organization.

Chairman Patrick Lucey of the party reported that the Wisconsin Democrat now is published on a twice-monthly schedule, as against once a month for the last several years, and that he intends to reach a weekly publication schedule soon.

The subscriptions are entered as a part of the membership fee of organization Democrats, now being solicited more actively through the services of two full-time field organizers.

Lucey said his goal is an annual budget, exclusive of normal election season campaign funds of $72,000, and the party thus far has not attained it.

But he is confident that the goal will be achieved, he said. The field men are now selling ordinary memberships, plus sustaining memberships at higher fees. The latter are billed at $100 a year, payable in monthly installments.

The next major organizational activity will be the annual party-at-Milwaukee on May 23.

Symington Speaker

Principal speaker will be Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, regarded as a bidder for the party's presidential nomination next year.

Symington is expected to sound out prospects in Wisconsin, but he has yet given no hint whether he intends to enter the Wisconsin spring primary in probable competition with two of his senate colleagues, John Kennedy of Massachusetts and Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota.

New Faces Around Table at Summit

United Nations, N. Y.—(U)—The problems haven't changed much since the 1955 summit conference, but there will be new faces around the table if the big four meet this summer.

President Eisenhower is the only 1955 government head still in office. Britain's Sir Anthony Eden has retired. Edgar Faure has been pushed into the background by France's political upheaval. Marshal Nikolai Bulganin has been replaced as Soviet prime minister by the man who was the real Soviet boss in Geneva four years ago.

There have been changes, too, in the ranks of the foreign ministers.

Russia's veteran bolshevik leader, V. M. Molotov, is sweating out an exile as ambassador to Outer Mongolia. He has been succeeded by dour Andrei Gromyko.

The Changes

Antoine Pinay of France is out. France's current foreign minister is slender, youthful-looking Maurice Couve de Murville, a career diplomat who has taken part in many high-level meetings.

Britain's Harold Macmillan, now prime minister, has turned over the foreign ministry to his former No. 2 man, Selwyn Lloyd.

Sec. of State Dulles represented the United States in 1955. Because of his illness, it is not certain whether he will be able to go through the arduous labors of a summit conference even if he retains his post. Acting Sec. Christian Herter may go in his place.

One significant absence will be that of Soviet Marshal Georgi Zhukov, once a close friend of Eisenhower and former defense minister of the Soviet Union. Like Bulganin and Molotov, Zhukov has been elbowed out of the picture by Nikita Khrushchev.

One of the hopeful aspects of the 1955 summit meeting was the private talks between Eisenhower and Zhukov—even though there were no tangible results.

Of the big four themselves, only France's Charles de Gaulle was not in Geneva four years ago. Khrushchev and Macmillan will be new to the top level seats, but both played important roles at the 1955 meeting.

Four years ago Khrushchev, as communist party boss, was technically only an adviser to Bulganin. He let Bulganin do the talking, but the participants never doubted who made the decisions. Diplomats told of occasions outside the meetings when Khrushchev brusquely interrupted Bulganin and made it clear that the marshal was premier in name only.

Macmillan not only attended the meetings as Eden's chief adviser but, with the other foreign ministers, took part in all the preparatory talks which paved the way for the formal discussions at the summit level.

Half of Wisconsin Threatened by Polio

State Medical Society President Sees Large Decrease in Vaccination Total

Madison—"Half of Wisconsin lies under the grave threat of polio," Dr. William B. Hildebrand, Me nasha, president of the State Medical Society of Wisconsin, said today.

"There has been an alarming slowdown on the part of the public to seek vaccination protection against this major brand," continued Hildebrand.

"As a result," he said, "nation-wide estimates show that in the last four years only 42 per cent of Americans have had one or more of the three recommended Salk shots."

People Unprotected

"Thus more than half of the people in Wisconsin are unprotected," stated Hildebrand.

"Polio can strike at any time of the year," he declared, "but the peak of the crippling season is in September."

"Yet it requires about 81 months for an individual to complete his standard three vaccinations. Even if a person began his immunization process today, he would be partly exposed to the September danger peak."

Needless Danger

"Therefore, many in Wisconsin have already placed themselves, their families, particularly the children, in needless danger," Hildebrand continued.

He emphasized, however, Thursday noon and Donald C. that one or two of the Salk Shepard, Jr., new president, shots would afford some protection. "certainly better than none at all."

Officers of the Community Chest are Shepard as president, Dan E. Johnson as first vice president, Joseph F. Ry- ing four deaths last year, Hil- an as second vice president, debrand said.

Mrs. Charles Schueppert as secretary and Mrs. Elmer Schultheis as treasurer.

New directors on the board, who will serve 3 year terms, are James P. Buchanan, Claude Cash, Alden Christian- son, James Crust, John Pink- erton, John Grimes and Gav- in Young.

Directors whose terms ex- pire in February of 1960 are Hayward Biggers, Paul Groth, Shepard, Hugo Woelckner and the Henry J. Young.

Candidates for Neenah Posts List Expenses

Total of $60.67 Spent by Seven; 12 Report No Costs

Neenah — Candidates for Neenah offices in next Tues- day's election listed expenses totaling $60.67 in their cam- paigns, City Clerk R. V. Haus- er reported today. Prelimina- ry expense statements were due Tuesday.

Ray Murphy, candidate for Fifth ward aldermen, spent $13, the largest single ex- pense, while his opponent, Ald. Aaron E. Dix, the in- cumbent, had expenses of $7.02.

Ald. Kenneth E. Farman, seeking reelection as Seventh ward alderman, incurred ex- penses of $8.95 and one of his opponents, R. Eugene Heim- erman, had no expenses list- ed. The other opponent, Ralph Westland, was mailing in his expense statement which had not arrived by this morning.

9th Ward Race

In the Ninth ward alderman- ic contest, the incumbent, Paul B. Hansen, spent $7 and his opponent, Theodore A. Du- pont, reported spending $8.90.

Ald. Peter Fara, Third ward, reported spending $6.90 and his opponent, Robert H. Lenth, listed $8.90 as his ex- penses.

Most of the candidates re- ported they had no expenses since they had no opposition. These include Ald. Warren Sanders of the First ward, School Commissioners Paul H. Groth, Arthur W. Plummer and Mrs. Ione McConnell, Pol- ice Justice E. P. Arpin and Justice of the Peace Maybaw- Mott.

Grove Estate Land Nears Acceptance By Planning Board

250 New Building Lots to be Created in Area Near School

Menasha — A preliminary plat for annexation of the late Alva Grove's land adjoining Clovis-Grove grade school was given tentative approval Tuesday by the city planning commission. The 250-lot area would be the largest single an- nexation in the history of Menasha.

Next step, advised City Atty. William R. Giese, is for the heirs of the Grove estate to bring in their final plat and list of restrictions for planning commission and city council approval.

The final plat and restric- tions will be subjected to close examination before accept- ance, and a public hearing will be held, since the official city map will be changed by the addition.

Present plans call for in- stallation of sewers, water mains and utilities before per- forming the street work, to provide economy.

Runs Northeasterly

The area involved runs in a northeasterly direction from Ninth street, east of London street. The new grade school abuts the proposed subdivi- sion.

Under the plan presented Tuesday, about 250 home build- ing lots would be created, mostly of regular shape. Their sizes would be at least 70 by 120 feet, with some running to 150-foot depth.

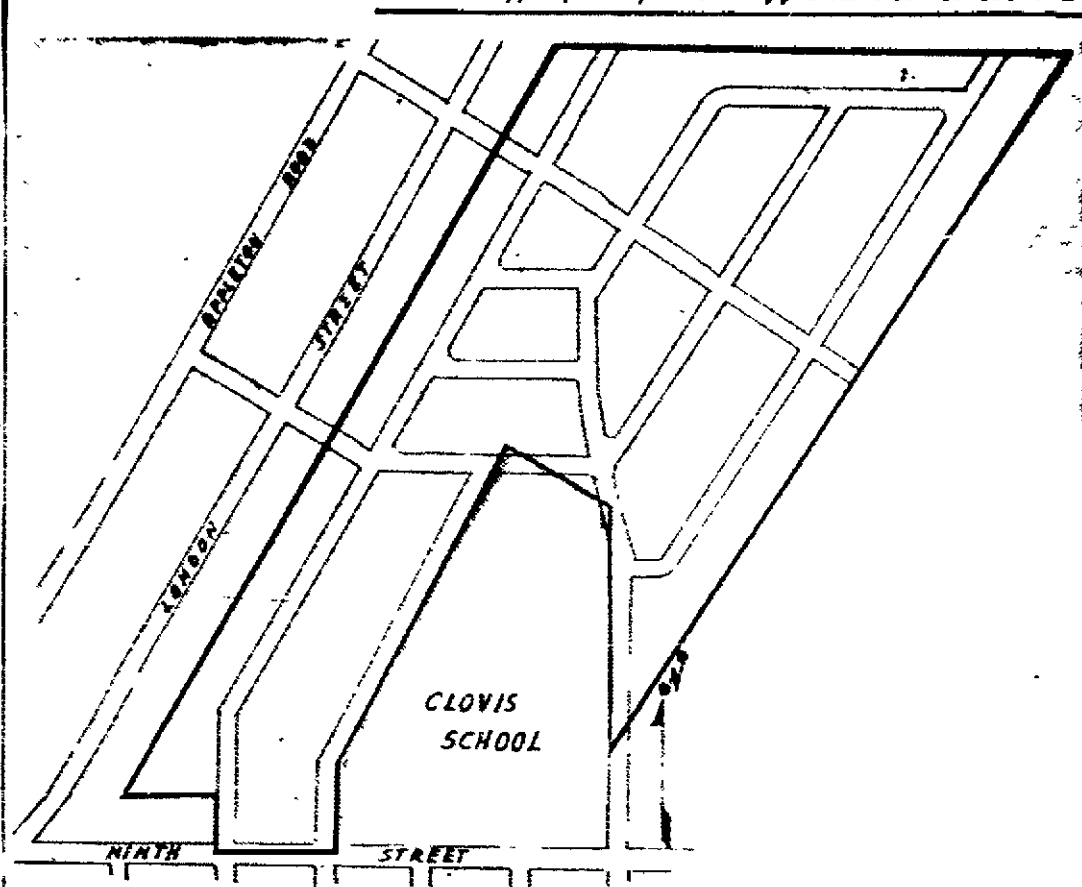

The estate heirs also must petition Winnebago county court, handling probate of the Grove estate, for permission to subdivide the land for an- nexation.

Development of the land should work northeast from Ninth street, the planning commission, Mayor R. G. Du- Charne and several city coun- cil members decided, to hold down development costs.

The plat has been prepared by McMahon Engineering company. One street in the new subdivision will be 66 feet wide, and the others 60 feet.

Two small pieces of land, at the corners of the Clovis-Grove school site, will be needed for ramps.

The 10 are now teachers or administrators in the state college system.

The Proposed Annexation to the city of Menasha is outlined in dark lines on this plat drawing submitted Tuesday to the City Planning commission. Open space at the south end is the new Clovis-Grove school site. The addition, if taken into the city, will provide about 250 building lots, the largest annexation to Menasha.

Heart Surgery April 10

Red Cross Seeks O-Positive Blood for Deborah Werner, 2

Menasha — The Neenah and Menasha Red Cross chapters are seeking 110 don- ors having O positive blood to aid 2-year-old Deborah Wern- er, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor D. Werner, 530 Wash- ington street, Neenah.

The little girl will undergo heart surgery April 10 at Wis- consin General hospital, Mad- ison.

Blood will be taken April 9 from 14 selected donors when the Red Cross bloodmobile makes its scheduled stop at the Menasha Congregational church.

Mrs. Earl Pantton, Neenah Red Cross secretary, said the local chapters now are calling all O positive donors on their lists to alert them to the need for blood. The donors will be assigned times to go to Theda Clark hospital for blood sam- ples to be taken.

The 110 blood samples will be sent to the Madison hospi- tal for exact matching with the little girl's. Selected don- ors then will be notified.

For Deborah's heart sur- gery, blood from four types of persons is unacceptable: wo- men who have been pregnant; persons who have been ail- ing at any time in their lives; persons who have had hepati- tis or yellow jaundice; and those who have had blood transfusions.

Mrs. Pantton stressed that prospective donors should not go to the hospital unless they are assigned to have samples taken.

The blood, she said, is be-

A Sylvan Retreat Along Highway 10-114 east of Waverly beach corner during the summer time, the front yard of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Makowski, route 1, Menasha, becomes a swampy lake during the spring. Easter the water rose within a half inch of flooding their home and cut them off from the highway until it receded Tuesday.

Seeks More Drainage

High Water Isolates Harrison Town Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Felix Makowski, route 1, Menasha, regained access to the outside world Tuesday when town of Harrison crews cleared culverts to alleviate high waters that isolated them in their home since Sunday.

The water came within a half inch of flooding their house, they said, and they were getting ready to evacuate when the water receded.

Flooding is prevalent along Highway 10-114 east of Waverly Beach corner for about a half mile. The Makowskis were the only ones isolated, but water did get into several basements.

Polio Victim

Makowski, a World war II veteran and a 1952 polio victim, has strong views on what to do with the drainage water on the highway grade, a condition thought to keep it out into a swampy lake each spring.

He suggests having more drainage ditches cut from the highway to the lake. Town of Harrison officials have told him the work can not be done without permission of the owners of the intervening property and the cooperation of the state highway commission.

He recognizes the heavy snow this year caused the extensive flooding this spring.

but contends it is only one contributing factor.

The eastern end of the Calumet county township is being settled and the lowlands are being filled in. This, he said, causes greater pressures on the remaining lowlands.

Makowski cleared about a half acre of land north of Highway 10-114 and built his little home nine years ago on a state veteran's loan. He and his wife did most of the work themselves.

In 1952 when he was stricken with polio and spent a year at Wood and two more years at home recuperating, plans for further improvements and water protection had to be shelved.

Highway Awash

The floor of the house is on the highway grade, a condition thought to keep it out of trouble from water except when the highway becomes awash.

Water spilled over the highway Sunday night and Monday.

George Schwalbach, Harrison town chairman, told Makowski he will continue seeking state assistance on the drainage problem.

However, Makowski isn't too optimistic. "I'm an old hand at this water thing," he said. "I've

The mystery of the three missing chicks has been solved at the Robert Ebben home, 309 First street, Menasha. The four Ebben boys, Greg, Mark, Chuck and Don, received a half dozen baby chicks at Easter but three of them disappeared Sunday. Tuesday night the boys heard some peeping in the basement and the chicks were rescued from inside the jacket of the coal-fired furnace. Apparently they had fallen down the register and the hot air pipe. The chicks were black as coal and hungry but otherwise hale and hearty.

Wolf River Water Up 1.1 Feet

New London—The Wolf river has risen 1.1 feet from Sunday morning through Tuesday morning, according to Irvin Ziebell, who reads the gauges for the army corps of engineers.

The reading at the gauge Sunday morning was 4.8. It climbed to 5.2 Monday morning and to 5.9 feet Tuesday morning.

Most residents here feel the threat of a flood has passed because of the slow spring thaw. They report the ground is soaking up most of the water from the melting snow.

City Gets Complaints About Damage by Cats

Neenah — Complaints about causing damage have been received recently by city officials, Mayor Bell reported. One complaint was that a cat had gotten into a garage and damaged the car upholstery. Other complaints have been on damage to gardens.

Oshkosh—Willard J. Hogen, route 1, Neenah, has received a $15,000 building permit from County Clerk Nell Hoffman for construction of a single family dwelling in the town of Vinland.

had nine years of it. The water isn't too bad usually, but it threatens to come inside, then something should be done."

De Long Quits Plans Board

Error Corrected; 8th Member Named To 7-Man Group

Menasha — Earl DeLong resigned Tuesday from his post on the city planning commission.

He was the most recent appointee on the board and was the eighth member.

City Atty. William R. Giese last week discovered that the Menasha commission by statute is limited to seven members.

The eighth member post was created many years ago in error, and the error was continued to the present, he told the commission.

The statutes call for the commission to include three citizens, the mayor, park board president, city engineer and one alderman.

The commission denied an application to purchase a strip of land lying northwest of the junction of Highways 10 and 114, east of Menasha. The land in question, dedicated as an exit into Highway 114, will be retained for possible future use.

Sale of a 22 by 203 foot strip of land at Seventh and State streets to Max Novakofski also was recommended. Final approval will be subject to council action.

Institute Director Warns of Decline In Free Enterprise

Neenah — An expanding American economy under a free enterprise system as the greatest guarantee against seeing our Toms, Dicks and Harrys die in World War III was advocated by the director of the Institute of International Studies at Bradley university Tuesday afternoon. Dr. Nicholas Nyaradi warned Woman's Tuesday club members "We are facing disaster," if things go on as they are now.

The former minister of finance of Hungary said, "Russia today is bankrupt." Economically, the Soviet Union is unable to produce a moderate amount of consumer goods for which the people are clamoring more and more, he pointed out. When the Soviet Union builds a new steel mill in India, it means Ivan must wait another 10 years before he can buy a television set or Ivan's wife must wait several years before she can replace her worn winter coat, the speaker illustrated.

In the United States we believe the recent spectacular successes of Russia such as achievements in outer space or Nikita Khrushchev's recent saber rattling are the signs of Russia's growing power and strength. Dr. Nyaradi stated. Actually the new aggressiveness resembles a man received as a novice at St. Francis seminary. Rice Lake. a cemetery to convince himself he is not afraid, he said.

This deeply seated crisis of Russian industry was the reason for Mikoyan's recent visit to the United States, the educator reported. His purpose was to obtain American credits to buy American consumer products in order to placate the Russian people.

President Eisenhower and Dulles saw through his scheme and said "no dice," related the speaker. Dr. Nyaradi said he was disgusted with American businessmen who swarmed around Mikoyan trying "to make a fast buck."

"They were willing to dig the grave of our government and our children," he said.

No government in its proper senses would be willing to undertake a military venture with a mass of discontented people, the speaker said. The most important sign of Russian bankruptcy can be found in the ideological sector, he emphasized.

In a description of the Hungarian revolt, Dr. Nyaradi pointed out it was the youth who were willing to fight and die for the ideal of freedom, which they never knew or lived under. "Under such conditions, I am convinced that the Russian government, because of this inherent weakness, will be reluctant to start a shooting war over Berlin."

Russian leaders like to believe they will achieve their ultimate goals without shooting wars because they think America will fall apart because of internal weakness, he said.

The only reason we are not in a shooting war with the Russians is the Russians know they could never match the American superiority in industrial production and agricultural output.

In a discussion of the growing political influence and power of the American labor movement, Dr. Nyaradi said labor is engaged in a running feud with business. "Neither labor nor management should have a supremacy over the other," he warned. What labor must understand is that labor and management are in the same boat, he warned.

Appreciate Industry

What we have to do is increase the American people's knowledge and appreciation of industry, said the speaker, who was a member of the Budapest bar for 13 years and the legal adviser and executive director of one of the largest banks in Hungary. The education system should teach the free enterprise system as well as history courses, he said pointing out few students outside of commerce and government courses delve into a study of economics.

Today the Russians have weapons in hand more destructive than atomic bombs, he said listing ignorance, indifference, complacency and "taking for granted" attitude of Americans.

After World War II, Dr. Nyaradi represented the anti-communist Small Landholders party in Hungary's post-war coalition government. As a consequence of increasing Soviet pressure in 1948, he and his wife fled their native country.

Sees Drive to Make Deficit Even Bigger

Attitudes on Finance, Budgets Sometimes Puzzling

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — There seems to be joy in some quarters that the budget is going to be unbalanced. Judging by some of the comments from Democrats on Capitol Hill, this proves that President Eisenhower was all wrong and that, since the Lawrence budget is going to be unbalanced by more than a billion, it might as well be unbalanced by three or four or five billions.

When congress comes back from its recess, the drive to spend more and hence make the deficit bigger will take on momentum. It seems to be taken for granted that only the prestige of the president—not the pocketbook of the American people—is going to be hurt by the failure to reduce the deficits.

It's hard for the average man to realize just what is involved in budget balancing, and in the increases in treasury deficits. At the National Press club luncheon the other day for Raymond J. Saulnier, chairman of the president's Council of Economic Advisers, this question was asked with reference to the drop in the purchasing power of the dollar from 100 cents in 1939 to 48 cents today:

"If I have only a 48-cent 'buck' in my pocket, haven't I got 48 cents more than I had in the depression?"

Dr. Saulnier replied that nobody now is much concerned with 1939 except historically, and then added pointedly:

"I'd like to protect your 48 cents, you see, from now on."

This is a simple statement of a dilemma that faces the American people. Do they want to see the dollar decline still further in purchasing power so that the 48 cents they have today would before long be cut down to 24 cents?

Drama of Money
The drama of money is not a subject of popular discussion. But among those whose business it is to deal in government securities—a man, for instance, like Aubrey G. Lanston of the New York firm which bears his name—the topic is very live. Lanston, speaking a few days ago before the Cleveland Society of Security Analysts, said:

"I think it will become plain that the people of this country will have to make a choice, sometime over the near future, either by positive action or through default."

They can force congress to administer federal finances in a responsible way—something we have urged other so-called less advanced countries to do, —or we will end up, first, with selective controls of a rush-running character and, ultimately, with a chaotic breakdown in our economy.

"The financial irresponsibility on the part of the government has created a series of deficits that have been financed by commercial banks. No matter what you have read to the contrary, that is the fact."

Absorb Deficits
"Further, it seems inevitable that the commercial banks will be obliged to absorb whatever deficits develop from here on. It also seems likely that the increase in the government security holdings of commercial banks will enlarge by somewhat more than the amount of future deficits because the banks will be the only major buyers left. Therefore, the banks also will have to absorb whatever government securities are sold by others."

"This kind of frenzied public finance poses a serious threat."

"We should recognize now that the number of spending measures that have been, or will be passed between now and the close of the 86th congress, call for increased government spending for fiscal 1961 and for later years too."

Psychological Repercussions
"The prospect of another deficit—for fiscal 1961—coming on top of a deficit for fiscal 1960, and all those that have preceded these, could produce some substantial, stabilizing, psychological repercussions. The nonchalant, fiddling attitude of congress toward a balanced budget for 1960 may be building a base for explosive developments later on."

Lanston's concluding advice to the public might well be pondered by those members of congress and others who have been ridiculing the idea of a balanced budget. He said:

"I can see no point in investing in the lowest yielding credit of all — U.S. treasury securities—at long-term in a background wherein the purchasing power of the dollar has been depreciating and seems likely to continue to depreciate. . . . Therefore, the best buys in government securities are those that are short in term."

But what is this going to do to the treasury, which has to sell for cash somewhere between $11 and 12 billion in government securities during the present calendar year, to say nothing of refinancing the many billions of other previously issued securities which come due in the next 18 months? When will congress realize that the treasury department's task is of transcendent importance to the American people and the future of the whole economy? (Copyright, 1959)

Neenah Man Devises Bike Turn Signal

Dick Rucci Given Patent; Safety of Cyclist Prompts Idea

Neenah — Bicycle riders who have to remove their hands from handle bars to signal a turn caused Dick Rucci, 734 S. Commercial street, to do some inventing, particularly since he has three bicycle-riding sons.

The result was the United States patent office recently gave him a patent for a "bi-directional" signal. He presented his application for the patent Oct. 22, 1956.

Taking the hand off the bicycle handle bar to signal a left or right turn makes it difficult for the rider to maintain proper balance, Rucci remarked. His turn signal is mounted on the handle bar and can easily be operated by the cyclist without removing the hands from the handle bars.

Reflective Arrows

Rucci's invention comprises a suitable housing with a clamp and bolt to attach to the handle bars. Within the housing is a lazy-tong arrangement connected to a movable closure for the top of the housing. It also has a reflective arrow that points in the direction of the turn.

The signal is operated by a finger pin readily accessible to the hand of the bicycle rider and which projects through and is slidable in the slot of the housing.

The cyclist has the signal mounted on each side of the handle bar and he places his thumb upon the finger pin, moving the pin in the slot. This causes the lazy-tong linkage to extend laterally and move the signal to show the direction of the turn. After making the turn, the cyclist pushes the pin back in the opposite direction.

Winnebago Posts Weight Limit on Blacktop Roads

Concrete county trunks, of which the county has about 50 miles, are not included in the posting nor are several town of Menasha are not posted, Morrissey stated.

The blacktop county trunks are beginning to get soft as the frost comes out of the ground and the highway office is trying to save them as much as possible.

County highway crews still are working on drainage problems along state and county roads. Motor graders with wing plows are pushing the snow back and out of the ditches to permit a flow of water. Culverts are being opened by hand.

The townships are in charge of maintaining and correcting their own drainage problems and today four graders are working in the towns of Clayton, Omro, Rushford and

Police Won't Have Trouble Getting Man: He Has No Clothes

Augusta, Ga.—"Please help me find my husband," pleaded a woman's voice as an Augusta policeman answered the telephone. "He has been drinking and just left home driving our car. Please find him before he gets hurt or kills someone."

The officer asked for a description of the man and the car, but the woman broke in saying "Oh, you won't have any trouble finding him. He left home without a stitch of clothes on."

6-Man Deal Won't Change Haney's Immediate Plans

Hickey Says UW Hasn't Approached Him, Raps Krause for Criticism

Marquette Coach Lauds Jim Kersten, Declares Dibelius Was Sorely Missed

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN Post-Crescent Sports Editor

Marquette Basketball Coach Ed Hickey revealed here Tuesday that he has not been approached, formally or informally, about the vacant key's first season at Marquette coaching job at the University of Wisconsin.

Commenting on The Associated Press' recent item that he might be considered a "longshot possibility" for the UW job, Hickey said the only thing he had heard about it was that someone called his attention to the same article.

Not Waving Banners

Seemingly confirming Hickey's lack of connection with the UW vacancy was his pre-occupation with the makeup of the 1959-60 MU quint. (Two regulars are lost from the 1958-9 team which created a tie basketball stir by compiling a 23-6 record in Hickey's first season at Marquette.)

"We're not pessimistic, but we're not waving banners either," said the colorful Hickey, who has just been named "college coach of the year."

Among the observations and disclosures by Hickey in an interview between his two speaking engagements (A Rotary banquet for the Appleton High basketball team and the Marquette Fox Cities Alumni club dinner) are these:

(1) Menasha's Jim Kersten figures importantly in next season's plans.

(2) Ron Dibelius was sorely missed last season by MU—his outside shooting could have broken up the "picket fence" many teams built around Mike Moran.

(3) Notre Dame is trying to carry out a twentieth-century basketball program in a nineteenth-century setting.

(4) Some of "Moore's" (Krause's ND athletic director) statements should be taken with a grain of salt and that his (Krause's) criticism of Hickey's tactics in the ND game were improper.

(5) He (Hickey) was misquoted about intending never to play another basketball game at ND.

(6) If the pro basketball league continues its current emphasis on scoring, its customers may soon need swivel chairs.

(7) He contacted Jack Ullweiling last year while winding up his coaching affairs at St. Louis in a vain effort to induce the former Appleton High star to enroll at MU.

No Exceptional Height

Unless he moves Don Kojis to center next season, it is likely Kersten will be a starter, Hickey indicated. Walt Mangham will be the other front-liner in the backcourt will be Jim Kollar and either Ed Carter, or Mantowoc's Greg Ripp. If Kojis is moved to center, Joel Pliska will handle the other forward berth.

In any event, Hickey intimated Kersten will see considerable action. He rates the former Menasha St. Mary star as an excellent defender and good all-around player.

Dick Hall Selected On All-State '5'; Lamers on 3rd Unit

Stone, Glaser, Richter, Horton Round Out AP's First Team

Milwaukee — (AP) — Height, backboard brawn, maneuverability and scoring punch to the tune of 2,710 points this season characterize the 1959 Associated Press All-Wisconsin high school basketball team announced today.

John Stone of Whitefish Bay, Ron Glaser of Milwaukee, Pat Richter of Madison East, Dave Horton of La Crosse Logan and Dick Hall of Manitowoc rate among the very best, offensively.

Their season scoring totals — Stone, 687 points; Glaser, 493; Richter, 476; Horton, 534; and Hall, 520.

Kimberly's Jack Lamers was named to the third team, the only berth on any of the first three squads earned by a Fox Cities performer.

The second team also would wring smiles of welcome out of any college

Ned Wulk Will Remain at Arizona State

Says He Is Not A Candidate for UW Coaching Job

Tempe, Ariz. — Ned Wulk, basketball coach at Arizona State, said Tuesday he is not a candidate for the head coaching job at the University of Wisconsin.

Wulk (a native of Marion, Wis.) declined to confirm reports that he had been offered the Badger post with a $2,500 salary increase over what he is receiving at Arizona State. The Wisconsin position pays about $11,000 a year.

Wulk, whom speculators had considered one of the top prospects for the Wisconsin job, said he has been given a raise at Arizona State but declined to give details.

Harold "Bud" Foster recently resigned as Wisconsin's cage coach after holding the position for 25 years.

Stone and Glaser, both of whom stand 6-foot-3, set new scoring records in the Milwaukee Suburban and City conferences, respectively.

The former averaged 32.7 points in 21 games.

Stone hit a single-game high of 53 points and dropped in 36 against Milwaukee

NOTES and NOTIONS

I don't relish making noises like an alarmist—but a few disturbing smoke signals from the Fox Cities Foxes' training base require comment. They concern rumors that the Foxes may not come north with some of the players that once seemed "sure things." Though these fears may prove groundless, Foxes' officials cannot afford to take anything for granted. Among the players earmarked for the Foxes but now apparently on the "doubtful" list are Zoilo Versalles, brilliant young shortstop; "Chuck" Weatherspoon, catcher - outfielder, who hit .346 with Missoula, slugging 35 homers and driving in 113 runs; and infielder-outfielder Herman "Vila" Valdes, .328 with 95 RBIs for Missoula. Manager Jack McKeon has SOS'd that other Washington farm clubs are putting on the pressure and that he needs persuasive help—such as Business Manager Bob Willis might be able to provide if he were on the scene—to make sure of getting some of the top prospects

Willis' personal visit to spring camp is something this corner advised early in the off-season. There is no substitute for personal representation—something the Foxes didn't have last year when several Class B-caliber players (including pitching ace Jim Kaat) got away to Missoula of the Class C Pioneer league. The Foxes management has been indecisive about this—and, as this is written, there is still no definite word if Willis or President Ray McCone, or anyone at all, will go to camp. It's true Willis has many duties here in setting up shop for the new season. But, none can be more important than helping round up the strongest possible ball club.

Foxes Need Hefty Lineup to Make Splash

Senator farm club officials perhaps need reminding of the glowing "Hoistove league" words they uttered on how they would try to make amends for last year's poor club. It's on-the-spot persuasion during multi-club manipulation for talent that seems to be needed. The latest issue of The Sporting News includes this glowing comment on Versalles: "The flashy, 18-year-old shortstop from Elmira is such a dazzling glove man, he may have made a place for himself on the (Washington) club." We don't mean to suggest that the Nats hold Versalles back merely to give Fox Cities fans a chance to see him play in '59. If he's ready to make the giant-sized jump from Class D to the majors—or even to Double A in one year—fine. However, if he is promoted that fast merely to sit on the bench, it would be far better for him to gain experience by playing regularly in the country's fastest "B" league. Class A Charlotte, it appears, hopes to land Weatherspoon as second-string catcher. The Foxes' chances of acquiring "Spoon," Valdes and maybe even Kaat depend on their fighting for such players.

No reminder should be needed, but it's obvious the Foxes will need a hefty lineup to make any kind of a

Confirm That Ted Has No Broken Bones

Boston — (AP) — Hospital bulletin No. 2 was awaited today on the condition of Boston Red Sox slugger Ted Williams.

The 40-year-old outfielder was protected from outsiders while doctors attempted to determine the cause of his neck ailment at New England Baptist hospital.

A 46-word bulletin in midday Tuesday gave out little information except that Williams had "a rather uncomfortable night" because of pains in the neck and right shoulder.

Orthopedic specialists conferred, but there was no further announcement. The arrival of Dr. James L. Poppen back from vacation reportedly was awaited by other doctors.

X-rays at the hospital confirmed that Ted apparently has no broken or dislocated bones and evidently is not suffering from arthritis.

LA Pounces On Braves' Buhl, Pizarro

Double Plays Help Snyder Gain 9-2 Decision

Sarasota, Fla. — (AP) — Bob Buhl gave up eight walks in six innings while his mates hit into four double plays Tuesday as the Braves dropped a 9-2 decision to the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Buhl allowed five hits and four runs before he gave way to Juan Pizarro in the seventh. Pizarro was smacked for five runs in the eighth inning.

Seldom in Trouble

Gene Snyder, a rookie southpaw, held the Braves to six hits in six innings to get the decision and except for the second inning was seldom in trouble, thanks to double killings by his mates. Bill Harris finished and held Milwaukee to one hit in the final three innings.

It was Milwaukee's fourteenth loss against six wins in exhibition games. Los Angeles now has a record of 10-8.

Henry Aaron hit into a double play with two on in the third. In the fourth, with the bases filled he hit into his second twin killing.

Milwaukee 100 runs, 100 hits, 100 errors. Los Angeles 600 runs, 600 hits, 600 errors.

Star: Pizarro. Other: Snyder, Harris and Roseboro.

Hibbing Rink Loses, Portage Wins In U. S. Men's Curling Tourney

BY GEORGE SCHULTZ Post-Crescent Sports Editor

Green Bay — The opening round of the U. S. Men's National Curling Championships at the Brown County Memorial arena Tuesday night produced a feature game in which the North Dakota entry slid past the favored Hibbing Minnesota rink, 9-8, in an extra end.

Wisconsin's own entry, the Doug Bogue rink of Portage, won its opening game over neighboring Michigan, 15-8. Other first round winners in the round-robin play of 20 state champions were: Illinois, 14-8 over Massachusetts; Washington, 9-3 over Connecticut; and New York 9-5 over Alaska.

Second and third rounds were scheduled this afternoon and tonight.

Afternoon Games

Afternoon games saw Washington against North Dakota, Alaska and Illinois, New York versus Connecticut, Michigan against Minnesota and Massachusetts and Wisconsin.

Scheduled at 8 p.m. tonight were Minnesota versus Massachusetts, Wisconsin against Washington, Alaska and North Dakota, New York against Illinois and Connecticut versus Michigan.

Games continue at 2:30 and 8 p.m. Thursday, 9:30 a.m. and 8 p.m. Friday, and 2:30 and 8 p.m. Saturday.

While it was a come-from-behind team victory, the North Dakota effort was capped by the stone placement of its skip, Orvil Gillespammer, in both tying the match in the tenth end and then eking out a win in the eleventh end overtime.

Trails, 7-2

The Gillespammer rink trailed its Minnesota rivals, 7-2, after five ends and 8-3 after seven ends. At that, it was the closest of the five opening-round games.

The Wisconsin rink held off the Horace Decker rink of Detroit, Mich., in the crucial eighth end and produced a whopping score during that period in the process, and assured its wide margin of victory.

The Detroiters, carried for their first five points of the match in the sixth and seventh ends, closing the gap to 7-5. There were consistent knock-out deliveries by both rinks early in the eighth end until the Michigan curlers appeared pointed toward a tie. Then, two Detroit misses and some advantageous draws by the Portage rink gave the latter a 5-ender and the Wisconsin lead zoomed to 12-5. The rinks traded 3-enders in the last two ends for the final 15-8 score favoring Wisconsin.

1st Time

Competing in the U.S. championship for the first time as a state, the Alaska rink was not accorded over-generous hospitality. The Casey Williams rink of Anchorage, Alaska, fell behind the New York rink of W. Lincoln Scholtz 6-0 after the first three ends. The New Yorkers are from St. Andrew's club of Hastings-on-Hudson.

The Illinois entry, the Gregg J. Freilinger rink of Chicago's Exmoor Curling club, counted five stones in the fourth end on the way to a 14-8 victory. The losing Massachusetts rink was from the Winchester Country club and skipped by Robert E. Roundey.

The Dr. Frank V. Greelock rink of Seattle, representing Washington, likewise used a sizeable early lead to gain a 9-3 win over the Norfolk (Conn.) Curling club rink skip-ped by Herbert F. Robertson.

Two Rivers May Drop From FRV Baseball League

Circuit May Start It's 1959 Season With Only Nine Clubs

The Fox River Valley Baseball league may have to go to the post this season with only nine teams.

The Two Rivers club indicated Monday night in a league meeting in Kaukauna that its chances of playing this season don't look promising. A definite announcement is expected in about a week.

Pairings Listed
Nine of the 10 clubs who played in '58 indicated they are ready to go in '59. Pairings for opening day (May 17) are these: Manitowish at Little Chute-Kimberly; Menasha Macs at Appleton; Kaukauna at Oshkosh; and Harrison at Reedsville. Freedom, the ninth club, will either play Two Rivers (if it enters) or draw a bye.

The league negated a by-law which had the opening day set for the second Sunday in May. It was felt that the third Sunday would be better this year because playing areas may take longer to get into shape because of the hard winter.

The deadline for 1959 entries is April 21—the date of the next league meeting, at the Club Terrace.

Kaukauna's Tom Nytes was elected vice president to succeed Little Chute's Joe Vandenberg, who retired after 12 years of service.

Herman Schumacher, Oshkosh, was reelected president, and H. J. "Kelly" Weller re-named commissioner. Secretary Frank Warner also took on the duties of treasurer.

Paul Van Dyke resigned as treasurer at the last meeting. Stan May was again named publicist.

The Menasha Falcons and Appleton's South Side Athletic club, who had been on leave of absence, quit the league. Refunds of $50 were made for the dormant franchises.

Warner reported that the league incurred a deficit of $213.86 for 1958 operations. He said that expenses have been increasing while the club incomes have remained the same or decreased.

Bill Noffke and Everett Wegner divided kegging honors in Hahn's Major League's final edition Tuesday night. Noffke slugged a 623 three-some for Schaefer Dairy.

Wegner rattled a 256 loner and finished with a 623. Also attaining the 600 level was Art Levkuecht, with a 600.

Behnke's Clothes (63-21) finished with a 12-game bulge over second place Court's Cites.

Betty Cutler smashed towering 211 and 553 scores for first place Advance Car Mover (51-27) in the Ten Pin Toppers wheel.

Other honor scores in the Major league: Bob Nehls 550; Ferd Ebben 243, 599; Ed Flood 554; Ed Grassl 236, 575.

In the Ten Pin wheel: Barbara Van Handel 515; Dorothy Wulterkins 195.

Mike Court Jars 257 in Cigaret Loop
Mike Court cleaned up game and series honors in the Cigaret Loop at Madison on Hahn's over the weekend. He slammed a 257 game and a 599 triple for the Camels.

The Marlboros (273-144) hold a half-game league lead. Other honor scores: Bud Jenz 556; Glen Rohm 552.

Mary Lietz copped women's game honors on her 206, finishing with a 522. Dee Tesmer shot a 526 three-some, including a 197 line. Mary Schultz rattled a 191.

He was the Big Eight's most valuable player even though he played for a sixth-place ball club.

Horton put the finishing touches on his great season in the state meet at Madison by capturing the individual scoring and rebounding championships with 65 points and 45 rebounds.

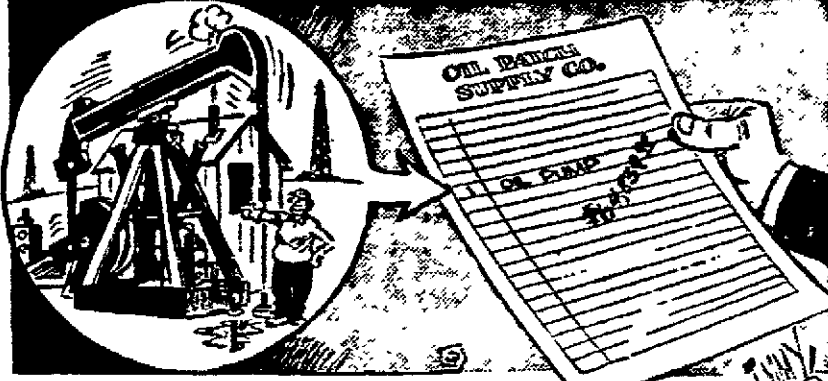

The 6-foot-3 Horton is the only member of the first team whose club reached the state finals.

The 6-foot-4 Hall led the tough Fox River Valley conference with 338 points, only 15 under Lance Olson's league record. His 529 points for all games were only five short of the school record.

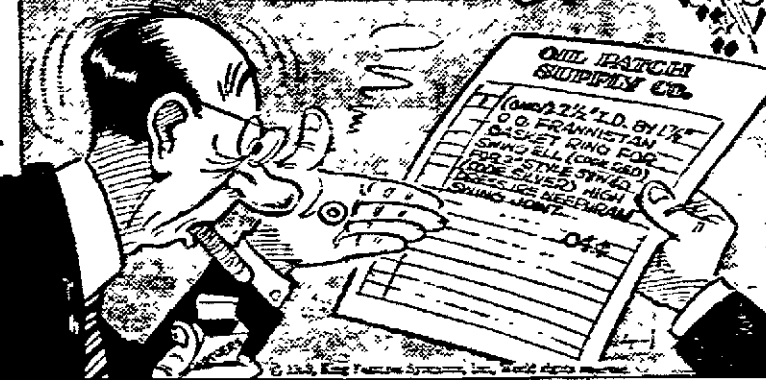

Like his teammates on the all-state, he was a terror off the boards.

'The Babe and I'

Babe Is Crushed When the Dodgers Bypass Him in Favor of Durocher

BY MRS. BABE RUTH
With Bill Stocum

In 1938, the Brooklyn Dodgers finished seventh. In his 20 of every ball player, sandlot full seasons in the majors, Babe had been in 10 pennant winners and only one other club that finished seventh. Nevertheless, the Babe felt 1938 had been a good year. The team club drew out of all proportion to its standing because the fans wanted to see the Babe hit a few and coach. His work on the base- lines had been satisfactory and he had shown himself re-

Seventeenth of Series

markedly adept at coaching the Dodgers hitters.

MacPhail treated us both well. We traveled first class and MacPhail met every promise he had made, as did the Babe.

An unhappy aspect of the season was Leo Durocher, a remarkably gifted shortstop who was finishing his active career. Leo had been a brash rookie with the Yankees when Babe was king. They had disliked one another then and nothing through the years had changed those feelings. It was Babe's feeling that deft stop play was the sum total of Leo's civilized conduct.

Opportunity Beckons

During the season, Leo let word get out that Babe had missed an important signal that cost the Dodgers a game.

Assuming Babe did miss it—just assuming—Leo was still guilty of dirty pool. All ball-players miss signals, and traditionally they confine their mutual recriminations to the privacy of the club house.

But loathing Durocher was before the game. Was his old hat to Babe, and when the season was done he was hopeful. He was hopeful in the light of his full knowledge of the cruel facts of baseball life. Burleigh Grimes, who managed the club that finished seventh, appeared doomed. The axe fell, as expected, ciding World Series game.

Babe found out about it in the newspapers. And he also found who would succeed out gave Babe an ovation such as I had never experienced.

Babe was crushed. He had done everything they asked son, the man who had never of him and it hadn't been enough. He sat in the kitchen, head in hands crying once again. He was out of base- to doing the job he and 69.136 ball. And this time he hadn't even had the privilege of quit- old Babe one where he could ting. He was fired really bust it.

Heard Nothing

He heard nothing from Mac- and h.t. a couple pretty well Phail. There was no point to But nothing in the old Ruth- asking about 1939 and Brook- lyn. Babe wouldn't work for Durocher and Durocher wouldn't let him. And in Babe's mind a friend had gone back on his word.

There was nothing on paper between MacPhail and Babe so there was nothing to call and talk about. MacPhail obviously felt the same way.

Babe and Larry's pains crossed accidentally at the stadium one day. But it was the briefest of meetings; a few polite words and they parted by skinned legs and school-ankles above twinkling feet.

Now Babe was out of base- ball once more.

There was a sense of des- peration about his anguish this time.

The first time baseball had been done very much Babe Ruth had because he was too old to wanted to do just what he had done.

His moon-like face was wreathed in a happy kid's grin. The face of Walter Johnson, handsome even beyond movie star standards, was filled with equal happiness.

People cheered, and a lot of them wept over this dramatic re-creation of a scene that they remembered from per- You'll hear from us." He didn't need money. He was making more out of base- ball than most of the people in it. But he wrote a couple of letters to MacPhail that he would even go to Newark. And got no answer.

Then he telephoned. Larry MacPhail, Babe's never dormant hopes arose with the arrival of MacPhail.

Babe took hat in hand, figuratively, and went to the Yankees begging a job.

Masters' Tournament Betting Odds Switch To Favor Sam Snead

'Slammer' 5-1 Pick in Meet Which Opens Thursday; Burke Has Fired 66 and 64

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Augusta, Ga. — Sam Snead, budding star of television, was made the 5-1 betting favorite today to snare his fourth Masters golf championship.

Mainly on the strength of his phenomenal 13-match unbeaten streak in the nationally televised series, the West Virginia slugger drew top advance billing over Ken Venturi of San Francisco, 6-1, and a trio of past winners, defender Arnold Palmer, Cary Middlecoff and Ben Hogan, bracketed at 8-1. Venturi had been the early favorite.

Lush Course
Although open betting in this Dixie fairway extravaganza is strictly verboten, a bookmaker has printed a "line" which is flagrantly distributed in the hotel lobbies and around the course.

The 72-hole tournament—the 23rd edition of Bobby Jones' brainchild — opens Thursday

Black Hawks Trip Montreal, Knot Playoff

Toronto Defeats Boston to Square Series at 2-2

By the Associated Press
Chicago — Montreal's proud and mighty Canadiens today found themselves in the peculiar position of being tied with the lowly Chicago Black Hawks in the semi-finals of the Stanley cup playoffs.

The Hawks, who had beaten the Canadiens only once in 14 regular season games, made it two in a row Tuesday night with a 3-1 victory to knot the best-of-7 series at 2-2.

Meanwhile, underdog Toronto also tied Boston, 2-2, with a thrilling 3-2 overtime victory on Maple Leaf ice.

The unexpected turn left the hockey world wondering if the Canadiens, shooting for an unprecedented fourth straight Stanley cup, can get by the Hawks without their scoring twins, Jean Beliveau and Maurice Richard.

Richard has been out since mid-season but the Canadiens continued to run away in the National Hockey league. Beliveau was injured against the Hawks in the second period of Saturday night's game.

Come to Life
The Hawks, a team which was expected to lose four straight to Montreal, have come to life. They have not only outplayed the Canadiens but appear threatening to pull the upset of the year by skating past Montreal into the finals.

Only in the first period—when the Hawks were saddled with five penalties—did the Canadiens look like the team which has been called the best in hockey.

That's when Marcel Bonin scored his sixth goal of the series to give Montreal a 1-0 lead. From then on, it was the Hawks' night, much to the joy of a standing-room-only crowd of 17,538.

20-Foot Shot
Lorne Ferguson's 20-foot shot at 6:34 of the third period broke a 1-1 tie and the insurance marker came in the last minute as Chicago fired one into an unprotected Montreal goal.

"We still have to win one in Montreal," said Coach Rudy Pilous, "and if we do that, I think we can take the series."

Boston played without harrassing defenseman Doug Mohns, who also was injured last Saturday.

But the Leafs heaped their credit on left-winger Frank Mahovlich, who scored the winning goal at 11:27 of a last Saturday.

Conley Is Happy About Chance to Play With Phils

Boston — Right-hander for duty until after he had Gene Conley says he's happy over his trade to the Philadelphia Phillies by the Milwaukee Braves and that he's getting a player who will play in shape and I'll give them 100 per cent.

Conley said the change from I join the Phillies, anyway," "I'll be in top shape when I give me a little bit Conley said. "These playoffs more opportunity have been something."

Conley will be following John Quinn, former general manager of the Braves who has taken over the same post at Philadelphia.

"I have the highest respect that he would be pleased if for John Quinn," Conley said, the Braves would either sell "I have been with him since his contract or trade him I first entered baseball. He Conley never signed for the big job on his hands in 1959 season with Milwaukee Philadelphia, and I hope to and said he wouldn't report, give him plenty of help."

Hickey Says He Hasn't Been Contacted by UW

er though not a heavy scorer.

Hickey ranks Appleton's Pat Below—another Menasha St. Mary grad—as one of this season's seven or eight top MU freshmen. The frosh squad is promising, he indicated, but lacks any exceptional height. That factor makes the loss of 6-9 Moran all the more costly, Hickey pointed out.

Hickey reported that if the 1958-9 team had a weakness, it was in the back line. And that's where the sharpshooting Dibelius could have come in—to take the pressure off Moran, who was double and triple - teamed many times.

Hickey, incidentally, disclosed that he had fully counted on Dibelius for last season and was caught by surprise when Ron signed a bonus baseball pact with Washington.

Eager to Play
Minimizing his own part in MU's unexpected success this season, Hickey attributed it to a team "that was eager to play and organized well" and to the "great interest and terrific patronage" that was built up. It all seemed to lead to an explosion, Hickey said.

The articulate Hickey, who is as soft-spoken in conversation as he is dynamic on the court, stressed that he "has no desire to take picks on Notre Dame." Yet, it became clear that the breach opened by MU's last appearance on the ND floor has not healed.

Hickey you'll recall, went into a tactical stall in the first half of that game, citing as reasons the poor physical conditions, the "hungry" Notre Dame crowd and the need for saving his team for the NCAA tourney. Shortly thereafter, Krause lashed out at Hickey, saying the game of basketball could be ruined if more coaches followed his example.

Krause added, "He didn't care about whether he played good basketball or bad basketball, and I'm sure his kids feel he lost the game. He had them afraid to take a shot."

A Re-Inventory
Hickey's comment on this yesterday, was "Maybe Krause should have taken a re-inventory of his remarks a week later when Eddie Hickey (he always refers to himself in the third person) was named coach of the year."

Hickey further characterized Krause's remarks as "improper criticism on his part as director of an institution that should try to promote good will."

Hickey declared he has "no fight with Krause or Notre Dame or anyone else" but that he has the right to defend his position. An opposing team always faces a very difficult chore at ND, he emphasized. He cited particularly the cramped, elevated court, with only a few feet from the sidelines to the drop-off, and the behavior of the crowd. "Most unbiased sports fans would have to criticize the demonstration of noise while Marquette shot free throws and the immediate lull when Notre Dame did as well as other examples of bad sportsmanship."

Hickey called the stall tactics ideal for the conditions and said he'd have no hesitancy about doing it again if the situation were similar.

"Winning the ball game was our objective," he asserted. Called Good Strategy.

The coach pointed out that

State Rivers On Rampage

Streams in West, Southern Portions Flood Lowlands

Rain-swollen rivers went on a new rampage in Wisconsin today, flooding a portion of the business district of Darlington as well as highways and lowlands over wide areas.

A steady rainfall, melting snow, and a breakup of the ice on the Wisconsin river contributed to menacing situations in southwestern and western Wisconsin.

In some localities rising rivers indicated that new initiative and self-reliance, Hickey believes.

Hickey had a sort of wistful look when he mentioned Uweiling. He told the AHS audience, "Marquette was unfortunate in not having Uweiling enroll. He will bring great fame and honor to you at the University of Wisconsin."

During his talk, which combined humorous incidents and inspiration, Hickey stressed the importance of athletics in the overall educational picture (athletics is only a means to an end) and his regard for his new position (I enjoy Milwaukee and don't want to go back to St. Louis.)

Hickey revealed that he and ND Coach John Jordan had already agreed on a home-and-home series for 1959-60 before either of last season's games was played — "and that's how it stands now."

As institutions, Marquette and Notre Dame "are bigger than Krause, Jordan or Hickey," the MU mentor added.

Hickey would offer no suggestions for rules revisions—saying he'll abide by the wishes of the majority of coaches who put a moratorium on changes for another year — but made it clear that he opposes the pros' 24-second rule for college play.

(The pros have a maximum of 24 seconds in which to take a shot each time they get the ball.)

Hickey admitted the pro rule makes the game more spectacular and makes the turns click but that it brings up the question if there's any defense left. "If it continues at the present rate, they'll soon have to put swivel chairs on seats — as would be needed for ping pong matches — so fans can watch them go up and down the court."

More Headaches
This may be all right for pro ball, but it has no place in the college game, Hickey said. To be successful, a college team would have to recruit the fastest, biggest, most talented shooters, declared Hickey, "and that would bring more headaches to the college athletic picture."

The only reason for the existence of athletics in college or high school is to associate it with educational objectives, according to Hickey. And overcoming your opponents' height or speed with strategy of your own is part of this education, he continued. The pro rule would take away this

At Readstown, on the Kickapoo, the water level was the highest since 1951.

Some streets in Soldiers Grove were under water and it was impossible to reach the city of Viola by automobile. Portions of Highway 136 near Viola were under two feet of water.

Badger Breeders Praised by Retiring President of Co-op Cattle Sales Division Biggest Step Taken in '58, Members Told

BY RAY PAGEL
Post-Crescent News Service

Shawano — It made good listening for nearly 400 farmers here when Harry Wilson delivered his farewell message to the Badger breeders.

Wilson, prominent Egg Harbor dairyman, was retiring as president of the world's biggest artificial insemination cooperative. He had served six years on the board, and was ineligible for reelection.

Edward Bemis, Plymouth, was promoted by the board from vice president to take Wilson's place at the head of the conference table.

"The general upgrading of dairy cattle in our area is due in large part to the work of Badger Breeders," Wilson asserted.

Important Step
"Last year we took an important step by setting up a cattle sales division. Our first show window sale, as part of that venture, was of tremendous value from the standpoint of public relations and promotion."

The past year saw the plant at Shawano greatly expanded and improved. The addition includes enlarged barn space for Badger's stud of 70 highly-rated sires, a streamlined office setup, and new laboratory facilities.

During the year the co-op spent $75,000 for 10 new bulls. This outlay included $30,000 paid in one crack to a breeder in Maine for the famed Holstein, Big Golden Breeze, most.

But Wilson hastened to caution the members that this is no time to coast.

"We must pay strict attention to breeding for high milk production and type," he declared. "It is important that our sire selection committees keep their standards very high."

A recent development to watch, the retiring president advised, is the cow pool idea.

In such an operation a group of farmers "pool" their animals at a huge, centralized barn. A manager runs the barn and the farmers share in the proceeds.

"If it comes and if you are interested in such a setup, do it cooperatively," Wilson urged. "That way you'd still be boss instead of becoming a hired hand on your own farm."

New President
Bemis, the new president, has a 240-acre farm at Plymouth. His 30 cows are registered Holsteins, and he has a substantial sideline in poultry.

Active in cooperative work, he is a member of Lake to Lake and a former director of the Lakeland Egg cooperative.

Named to take over as vice president was Donald Franchowiak, of Stratford, Marathon County. Leonard Peck, Chippewa Falls, was reelected secretary by the board of directors.

Badger elects its entire board each year, and has a six-year tenure limitation. Besides Wilson, Harry Precourt of Portage went off this year.

The new directors are Louis Koszarek, Antigo, and Franchowiak, who became eligible again after a two-year absence.

Other directors, all reelected, include: Albert C. Allen, Green Bay; Laurel L. Behnke, Clintonville; Russell Gasch, Chilton; Robert Muck, Shawano, and Frank Myer, Plainfield, plus Bemis and Peck.

Another resolution opposed any changes in present federal laws concerning the taxation of cooperatives. The delegates also opposed a proposal to have the governor, rather than the present board of agriculture, appoint the director of the state department of agriculture.

Wallin cited figures showing the extent of artificial insemination work in the dairy nations of the world. They range from New Zealand, with 9 per cent, and Canada, with 11, to Denmark, where 90 per cent of the dairy cattle are bred by artificial insemination.

The figure for the United States is 27 per cent, with a total of 6,055,000 cows handled by cooperative and private organizations.

Leads Nation
"Wisconsin leads in the United States, with a million cows in 1957 and probably a million and a quarter in 1958," Wallin remarked. Of that total, Badger Breeders accounted for 362,586 cows last year.

Wallin estimated that Badger accounts for 42 per cent of the dairy cows in its principal service area. The 28,176 members are located in some 30 counties in northeastern and central Wisconsin and upper Michigan.

Badger-serviced herds range from one cow to 111 cows. Fifteen herds have 70 cows or more, but the biggest category is in the 20-cow bracket.

USDA Speaker

ASC Chairman Offers Tips on Price Supports

Barley, Oats to be Supported at 77, 55 Cents Per Bushel

Prices for the 1959 crops of barley and oats will be supported at national averages of 77 and 50 cents per bushel, respectively, Chairman Bert Weyenberg of the Outagamie County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, reports. County support rates will be announced later.

The basic national price-support rates are for Grade No. 2 or better barley (except mixed barley), and Grade No. 3 oats, Weyenberg said. Weyenberg explained that operating provisions of the 1959 crop support programs will be substantially the same as for 1958. Support will continue to be carried out through loans on farm and warehouse-stored grains and by purchase agreements, which will be available at the county ASC offices from harvest through Jan. 31, 1960.

In determining the support rates for oats and barley, several factors were considered, including the supply of feed grain in relation to demand, the difficulty of disposing of stocks acquired under price support and the support level for corn.

Production of feed grains has soared in recent years. The supply is now at an all-time record and is expected to be still higher for the next feeding year, the ASC chairman reported.

Revised standards for oats, which go into effect June 1, will be used for price support purposes for all 1959-crop oats.

Oats grading No. 4 because of test weight only under the new standards will be eligible for price support at a 1-cent per bushel discount from the basic rate for No. 3. The minimum test weight for oats grading No. 4 under the new standards is the same as the minimum test weight permitted for oats grading No. 3 under the old standards.

The national average price support rates for No. 3 oats will be 50 cents a bushel. County rates will be announced later.

With maturity dates approaching for a number of grains which are under price support in this area, Weyenberg reminded farmers to be alert to market prices that will enable them to redeem these loans at a profit.

"Farmers who redeem their price support loans and take advantage of price increases on local markets are using the support program as it was intended to be used," Weyenberg said.

"The price support rate tends to set a floor under lo-

Bessette Cow Leads DHIA

Wittenberg — The top producing cow for the month of February in the Shawano county DHIA was Champ, a Holstein owned by Frank Bessette, and tested by Ronald Bessette. It produced 1,634 pounds of milk with a 4.78 test and 87.18 lbs. of butterfat.

Quecky, a Holstein owned by G. E. Meyerden and tested by David Meyerden, produced 2,017 lbs. of milk with a 4.0 test and 80.64 lbs. of butterfat.

Morning Glory, a Holstein owned by Isadore Furmanek and tested by Robert Stoltz produced 1,658 lbs. of milk with a 4.9 test and 77 lbs. of butterfat.

Beauty, a Holstein owned by Lester Balthazor and tested by Ronald and Robert Balthazor, produced 2,100 lbs. of milk with a 3.5 test and 73.50 lbs. of butterfat.

Wanda, a Holstein owned by cal prices. It also protects farmers from the low market prices, that usually exist at the height of the harvest season. If the market rises to a point where farmers can sell on the open market and still repay their loans plus interest, with a profit, it is better for them to do this rather than deliver their grain to the government in settlement of the loan.

Weyenberg urged farmers to check with the local ASC office in Appleton if they have loans that might be redeemed profitably. Grain loan maturity dates in the county are: Small grain, May 31, Corn, July 31.

Anton Morien and tested by Elroy Morien, produced 1,710 lbs. of milk with a 3.7 test and 63.27 lbs. of butterfat.

Filling the Air With a sweet smelling smoke is this cook house now processing maple sap on the Luke Mehlig farm near Caroline. The plant can produce up to 100 gallons of pure syrup per day. The pipes leading to the plant feed syrup directly from the woods.

Sign of Spring

Caroline Farm Busy Spot as Flow of Maple Syrup Begins

BY JOHN WELLS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Caroline — Fields are baring under the hot sun, greens are sprouting bravely through snow patched areas, and little traveled roads are becoming a series of ruts. The anticipation of spring is in the air.

Yet in the rolling fertile hills near Caroline, many eyes are watching another of nature's amazing spring processes—the flow of maple sap. Such is the case on the Milton Mehlig farm several miles north of Caroline. Situated in a valley surrounded by stately maple trees, the farm is now a panorama of gleaming pails, rutted snow tracks and smoke-filled air.

Full Swing
The maple syrup production process is in full swing. Man and nature are cooperating as syrup drips and is cooked over roaring wood fires.

Both await the warmer temperatures and the full flow of the syrup substance.

The amazing sap process is one which occurs in all trees. However the maple is one of the few with a high enough sugar content to be used for commercial purposes.

Each spring sap stored in the tree is forced upward to feed sprouting buds. Pushing low the syrup to pass into progressively hotter areas. Syrup men know when the sap is ready for final finishing by using a testing thermometer.

The final stage is passage through a gas-heated vat equipped with a gauge showing when the sap is ready for canning or bottling. The gas gives a heat control which is impossible in the large wood-fired primary cooker.

Syrup is then drawn off, strained, and piped to another cookhouse room for bottling, canning or storage in barrels.

Last year nature yielded 1-300 gallons of syrup from the maple plantation. This year's yield should be about the same.

The hustle and bustle of the operation is now limited to family working, but it will mean the hiring about a dozen men as soon as sap flows freely.

Presently handling the work are Mehlig's father, Stanley, Harry, and a hired hand, Stanley Norris. Harry's wife also serves as potter.

Mehlig's father farmed the home farm for many years before handing the reins to his oldest of five sons. Prior to Harry's farming his father homesteaded the land across the road from the cook house, things on the farm haven't quit running. The cows need milking. The sow had a litter and one of the little pigs had to be brought in the house to warm up by the stove. And the children, two and four years old, keep their mother as busy as ever.

The entire scene is a busy, productive and wonderful one. And even with all the work and rush, the Mehligs have time for a friendly chat or explanation of the syrup production process.

The purpose of cooking is to evaporate the water from the sap. This is accomplished in a large flat shallow stainless steel vat. It is built in sections to al-

State Ponders Investigating Health Policies

Commissioner Asks More Rigid Controls Of Underwriting

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — More vigilant state supervision of health and accident insurance underwriting practices will be considered by the legislature soon.

The legislature's joint finance committee has approved the request of the state insurance department for money with which to investigate complaints received about health and accident insurance coverage and indemnities.

The field is the most rapidly growing in the Wisconsin insurance business and now accounts for a gross premium income larger than fire insurance and auto casualty, and second only to life insurance.

Personal Appeal

The committee's action in increasing the insurance department budget came after a personal appeal from Insurance Commissioner Paul Rogan. He said his department receives more complaints from health and accident insurance policy holders than from any other group.

Rogan told the legislators he was requesting the increase for the benefit of his successor. "I am not a candidate for re-appoint by the governor," the commissioner told the committee. He had a considerable career in Republican politics before his appointment three years ago.

Rogan has advocated more effective state regulation of insurance lines. Two years ago he persuaded the legislature to enact a law giving his agency control over the rates and practices of the mushrooming credit life insurance business. Health and accident insurance policies are held by a majority of the residents of Wisconsin and account for gross premium income of more than $120 million a year.

Police Treat Violators

Muskogee, Okla. — Each traffic violator who pays his fine at the police station here receives a free cup of coffee. Lt. Jess McFadden explained it was to show the citizens the department is still hospitable despite the crackdown on violators.

Works Board Adopts Assessment Guides

Sewer, Water, Curb, Gutter, Some Grading Work Charges Up; Sidewalk Price Decreased

The board of public works Tuesday adopted its annual assessment guides for 1959: sanitary sewer, water main, curb and gutter, grading and graveling and sidewalk work. Charges for asphalt surfacing were not discussed since some board members were absent. Tabulation of bids received Tuesday is holding up a decision on a concrete street work charge.

Four charges went up, one down and two stayed the same, compared to last year. The charges:

Sanitary sewer, $2.00 a front foot, up 10 cents.
Water main, $2.50 a front foot, up 25 cents.
Curb and gutter, $1.80 a front foot, up 10 cents.
Grading and graveling in the opening of new streets, $2 a front foot, same as last year.

Grading and graveling on streets where the city never has graded and gravelled before, $2 a front foot, up 25 cents.

Sidewalk, $1.62 a front foot, down six cents.

Sanitary sewer work cost the city $128,963.13 last year and produced $73,700.31 in assessments, leaving $55,262.82 for the city to pay. Last year's budget had $40,000 allotted for the city share.

Water mains cost an average of $5.25 a running foot on both sides of the street with $4.50 returned in assessments, the water utility reported in asking for an increase to $5 a foot both sides.

Curb and gutter work cost the city $106,487.53 last year, with $70,774.48 returned in assessments leaving $35,713.05 as the city's share. Last year's budget had a $30,000 appropriation for the work.

Offices Approved for Kenosha and La Crosse

Madison — The state building commission Tuesday approved steps aimed at establishing unemployment compensation division offices in Kenosha and La Crosse.

The commission approved release of $12,500 for purchase of land in Kenosha as a site for a claims office.

It also authorized the industrial commission, the parent agency, to seek a site for a similar office in downtown La Crosse, separate from a proposed suburban state office building in that city.

Wood Rescinds Letter to City Council

Says Invitation for Master Plan Talks 'Misunderstanding'

A letter asking for a meeting with the city council to iron out differences in regional master plan proposals was rescinded today by Commission Chairman C. W. Wood. Wood said he had asked for the meeting on the assumption the commission had passed a motion at its last meeting asking him to set up the meeting. A check of the secretary's minutes showed that no such motion had been passed, Wood said.

In today's letter, Wood suggested master plan problems should be worked out by Appleton Director of Public Works Duszynski, Planning Director Clarence A. Hammond, State Director of Regional Planning Henry Ford and Kenneth Schellie, president of Metropolitan Planners, Inc., the firm hired to draw up the Fox Valley regional plan.

Wood also suggested that Schellie be asked to meet with the city council. He signed the letter as commission chairman, but Wood said his suggestions were made as a private individual. Mayor Mitchell had no comment. The letter probably will come before the council tonight.

$5 Per Foot Assessment For Lights

$17,932 Job Set for Superior, Appleton,
Washington Streets

Installation of 20 new mercury vapor lights on Superior, Appleton and Washington streets will cost property owners $5 a front foot.

The board of public works set the assessment Tuesday after Electrical Inspector Western reported the work Appleton street between College avenue and Lawrence bridge approaches, and for the number of assessable street and on Washington wire.

feet on the three streets comes to 3,587.78, he said, indicating a $4,981.9 charge will return all costs.

College avenue property owners were charged $6 a front foot in 1953 when similar lights and standards were installed, Volkman said.

Less Costly
This year's project, necessary because of deterioration of old equipment, Volkman said, will be less costly than the 1953 project because standards will be farther apart.

No wires will be installed to interfere with coming work on College avenue, Volkman said.

The lights will be placed on Superior street between Lawrence street and the North authorized to advertise for 36 on light standards, 16 of which will go on the College avenue approach, and for the courthouse annex. Refreshments will be served.

Sale of the house and garage was ordered by the state highway commission which earlier bought the buildings and lot for College avenue high bridge right-of-way.

The sale price is paid to City Clerk Broehm who forwards it to the State commission. Buildings must be removed from the site before May 1.

Van Rossum received $12,403.50 for the house and lot after negotiations with the city and state.

The action, it was explained Tuesday, also could be construed as an answer to some 113 petitioners who want the park considered as the school site.

Councilmen will vote on the recommendation at tonight's 7:30 p. m. council meeting.
